Lions Meet To Begin

Lions Club members from throughout District 26D will converge on Sikeston tomorrow and Sunday to attend the annual district convention and help celebrate the 47th anniversary of the Sikeston Lion's Club.

Featured speaker at the convention, which begins tomorrow at 1:30 p.m. with registration at the El Capri Motel, room 1, will be Dr. Robert D. McCullough, Tulsa, Okla., second vice president of Lions International.

Cocktails will be served tomorrow night at 6:30 at the Country Club. A buffet dinner will follow at 7:30 and dancing will begin at 9:30.

Activities begin again with the opening session at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at the country club.

Dr. McCullough will speak at the noon luncheon. Toastmaster will be Charles M. Mitchell. Henry Bussey, president of Sikeston Lions Club, will give the welcoming address. District Gov. Harold Richardson will make the presentation of awards. Millage Smith will give the invocation.

33 Aircraft Lost in Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 23 helicopters and 10 fixed - wing planes were lost in the Vietnam war during the past week. It was one of the more expensive weeks for America's aerial forces.

Most of the helicopters were shot down, and the others were lost in collisions or enemy attacks on U.S. bases, headquarters said.

At least two of the planes were fighter - bombers reported shot down earlier. The command gave no details about the other losses.

The report said a total of 2,585 U.S. helicopters and 2,681 planes now have been lost in the war.

A U.S. spokesman also announced that 38,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed since the Viet Cong spring offensive started Feb. 23, and American and South Vietnamese forces since the first of the year have captured:

-2,500 rockets and 110,000 mortar rounds, "more than the enemy has fired countrywide in the same period."

-2,500 tons of rice, enough to feed 50 battalions of 500 men each for four months.

-20,000 individual weapons and 3,000 crew-served weapons.

Although the U.S. Command did not say the enemy offensive was over, the spokesman said the heavy losses had forced the enemy to reduce his offensive operations.

"We estimate that the enemy's activities have decreased because he did not have any other choice," the spokesman said. "The primary reason for this, as you may have noted in the weekly statistical summaries, is that the enemy has suffered about 38,000 killed since Feb. 23.

"These are serious losses which exceed his losses during the same time frame following initiation of his offensives in both May and August of 1968..

Roughly one-third of the total American and enemy casualties in eight years and four months of fighting in Vietnam have occurred in the year since the United States and North Vietnam agreed to talk peace.

Saturday is the first anniversary of President Lyndon B. Johnson's announcement that Washington and Hanoi had agreed to send negotiators to Paris. Ten days later, on May 13, 1968, preliminary peace talks opened.

In the 52 weeks of fighting from April 27, 1968 through last Satuday, April 26, a total of 12,440 Americans and 153,779 of the enemy were killed in action and 79,793 U.S. troops were wounded, according to U.S. Command figures. South Vietnamese headquarters reports 14,367 of its troops killed and 52,526 wounded in that year.

The U.S. Command says that since the United States entered the war in force on Jan. 1, 1961, a total of 34,446 Americans and 488,231 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have died in battle and another 221,012 Americans have been wounded.

U.S. military sources say the sharp reduction in American combat dead last week - to 163, the lowest total since Jan. 11- indicates the Viet Cong's spring offensive has fizzled out.

The offensive began Feb. 23, and senior U.S. staff officers feel it began etering out a week ago, when the number of enemy rocket and mortar attacks considered significant dropped off to a low of 13. Since then there have been less than a dozen of these attacks a night, including only five reported Thursday night.

U.S. sources say North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units have fallen back to border areas to receive replacements for about 38,000 troops killed in their offensive.

"If they follow the same pattern," said one source, "They'll resypply, replace their losses, recuperate and I suppose prepare for another offensive."

White House Called to Explain Inaction on Hunger

WASHINGTON (AP) — To Nixon administration officials have been asked by a special Senate committee to explain an alleged White House decision against an immediate broad attacks on hunger in the nation.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the hunger committee, said Thursday invitations to appear before the panel next week went to Clifford M. Hardin, secretary of agriculture; Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, and Budget Director Robert P. Mayo.

Announcement of the action came shortly after the committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, urged the GOP administration to increase the fight against hunger this year.

The New York senator cited "authoritative reports that the administration does not propose to increase materially the federal food assistance program to the nation's poor beyond the present level of slightly more than $1.5 billion.

"This is a deeply disturbing development if indeed such a decision has been made by the White House," Javits added.

The White House has not officially announced whether such a step has been taken.

The senator has been making behind-the-scene efforts to convince the administration of the need for a vigorous hunger program. An aide indicated Javits decided to speak out publicly only after being advised on the highest possible levels that such a program could not be undertaken at this time.

Javits, referring to reports that some administration officials are not convinced hunger is a critical problem, said:

'I would hope that they will go out into the field, as I've done, to see the widespread, appalling conditions of hunger that demand much mor comprehensive measures involving much greater expenditures than they now seem to have in mind."

Javits supported proposals by McGovern to give free food stamps to families with monthly incomes of less than $80. He called this proposal "an indication of the direction of the thinking of the majority on the committee.

"However, I believe that the bill—by dealing almost exclusively with food stamps—does not go far enough in combating the conditions of hunger and malnutrition which plague our nation," Javits said.

He said Republican members of the committee plan to recommend legislation that would provide for involvement of private companies in developing and distributing fortified and enriched foods.

Sikeston, European Pen Pals Meet Here After 36 Years

By BARBARA LACY

A silver anniversary honeymoon has brought the Alfred Kittels of Wilhelmshaven, Germany, to Sikeston, to meet Christa's pen pal of 36 years.

It was in 1933 that Electra Shankle formerly of Sikeston now of Kansas City received a name and address from the Methodist youth group for a pen pal. The boy, in Czechoslovakia already had several pen pals so he passed the letter to a friend.

The friend was Christa. The correspondance that started between two teenagers was stopped briefly by the war, then continued through marriages and children.

The only change was that Mrs. Edna Shankle, 506 East Center St., Electra's mother, began writing after the war, when Electra was in Seoul, Korea, and from then on, continued the American side of the correspondence.

After the war, too, the letters from America were more often boxes containing much needed goods for the Kittel family, who- with their two boys - were living in Yugoslavia.

At one time arrangements were made for the Kittels to come to America by friends of Mrs. Shankle; in particular, the late J. Otto Hahs of Sikeston. But an American visa was hard to get, and in the meantime the Kittels were able to get a German visa. Thus the Kittels moved to Germany.

Friends of Mrs Shankle and Electra Shankle Goldwasser who have heard of the Kittels for many years met at a Tuesday night reception at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

They found the Kittels delightfully pro-American. Alfred, a physicist and presently technical manager for a pipeline company partly owned by Esso Oil Co., finds no fault with the United States. "You're a very young nation who is always progressing. You're not afraid to take risks. In Europe there are too many laws. There is no room for expansion.

"Germany is a bit Americanized, yes," Alfred continued. "But it is good for us. Let's let Germany become a 52nd state of the United States. It isn't a question of political power, but of economic power."

"I don't know anyone who wouldn't like life in America," Christa added.

For one member of their family, life in America may soon be possible. The Kittels oldest son Klaus, now a student at the Free University of Berlin, hopes to spend at least a semester studying journalism at an American university.

Alfred noted that students are rioting in Berlin and that he had noted the same initials in news about American college riots, SDS or Students for a Democratic Society. "It's the same organization," he said.

Peter, their other son, who is now finishing high school, hopes to be a physicist.

A big man who looks like he likes to eat, Alfred is enthusiastic about the food in the states, especially the "broiled steaks and wonderful salads."

"Oh, yes, we have the same foods in America, but the portions are very thin and small. Food is by far more expensive," Christa added.

But as far as physical goods are concerned, "there is nothing that you can not get in Germany. And everything is very good quality. Much of our goods are imported, just like yours.

In general, life is more expensive in Germany, the Kittels feel. Particular items that are high are gas, electricity and cigarettes.

Another difference the Kittels noted was in television.

In Germany the television stations are owned by the post office. It is not free, one must pay so much per month for each television set in the house. Programs for the general public run from 5 to 11 p.m. The rest of the day is devoted to special programing, such as to schools.

The Kittels speak excellent English. For Alfred, it is one of six languages he is fluent in. Christa learned English from a Catholic priest in exchange for playing the church organ.

"That was when Electra first wrote. The priest had to write the first letters for me, I couldn't have done it."

Later, Christa received a license to teach English and English literature.

But, feeling that they needed to keep in touch with the English language they have subscribed to the National Geographic Society for many years.

"Just as my father did," Christa said, "he was a member for over 30 years."

America has always played a big part in the Kittels life. They became acquainted with Americans who came to their home town, noted for its glass factories, to export the glass products.

After the war, when the Kittels had to leave their home and live in Yugoslavia they looked forward to the packages from Mrs. Shankle which contained cocoa, bubble gum, coffee, as well as such necessities as clothes for the boys. All which they found almost impossible to get in Yugoslavia.

"We didn't have fruit for 5 years, the entire time we lived

Malden to Remove Meters

MALDEN - Malden shoppers and visitors no longer have to plug the parking meters in downtown Malden, it was decided this week at the Malden City Council meeting.

By a vote of 5-3, council members agreed to the removal of existing parking meters on a trial basis. However, they agreed that if it doesn't prove satisfactory the meters will be reinstalled.

Councilman Bob McCurter pointed out the meters have not benefited the city or the merchant and that they irritate motorists.

Other members and visitors present at the Monday night meeting objected contending that the meters prevent merchants, clerks and businessmen from taking up the parking space intended for customers.

McCurter replied that any progressive merchant would not park his own car or permit his employes to park on the streets. Mayor Sparrell Davis said the Malden merchants were being asked to cooperate with the trial, and leave the parking spaces for downtown shoppers.

Mayor to Carnival

NEW MADRID - Mayor Robert Riley of New Madrid will represent this city at the annual Mayor's Day festivities at the Memphis Cotton Carnival next Thursday, joining with some 120 mayors from Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi and Missouri. They will be feted at a special mayor's banquet.

Bricklayers to Resume Work

Work at the Kingsway Plaza Shopping Center has been hampered this week because of the absence of bricklayers. George Staples, Charleston, developer of the center, which is located at the corner of South Kinghighway and Murray Lane, said the bricklayers at the corner of South Kingshighway and Murray Lane, said the bricklayers have been hampered in recent weeks with the large amount or rainfall and are due to return to their jobs shortly.

Tractor Hits Fisherman

GIDEON - Luther Lacroy, 40, of Gideon, suffered a sprained wrist, lacerations and bruises when he was struck by a John Deere from tractor yesterday, while fishing from a bridge on a gravel road North of town. Missouri Highway Patrol reports show the tractor, driven by Jerry Pylan of Gideon, swerved into Lecroy as Pylan applied the brakes as he neared the bridge. Lacroy was treated and released at Crooms Hospital at Malden.

The Patrol records show two other minor collisions, both involving automobiles.

3000 Here See Snoopy, Red Baron

Some 3000 cheering fans of Snoopy and the famed "Red Baron" were on hand to welcome famed flier Jim Appleby, alias Baron Manfred von Ribbentroft, as his fabled tri-motored Fokker hit the 'tarmac' at Sikeston Municipal Airport yesterday afternoon, under the sponsorship of the Hart's Bakery Division of Interstate Bakeries of Kansas City -- which operate bakeries in all 48 mainland states.

The "Baron" and Snoopy brought to life the characters of the famed comic strip, by putting on a dog fight. They left behind a memory of a funfilled afternoon that delighted youngsters and oldsters alike.

Appleby,who described the makeup of the plane, as well as doing wingovers and intruicate turns and shenanigans to please the kiddies, is enroute Mexico where he will co-featured in an air movie.

Bill Killebrew, public director for the Hart Bakeries, praised the turnout as "one of best we've had at sites, comparable in size with Sikeston -- an increase over last year -- and it was one of the most enthusiastic crowds we have ever appeared before."

Killebrew invited all Sikeston area residents to attend a special Open House at Memphis International Airport where the Hi-Air Division of Holiday Inns are promoting a showing of an experimental aircraft exhibition, featuring antique as well as the most modern aircraft, during the annual Cotton Carnival.

Danforth Announces Intentions Of Halting Chain-Store Games

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth said today he considers the games conducted by many foodstores, oil companies and other big commercial firms are illegal lotteries and he intends to stop them in Missouri.

He said he planned to move against any companies still conducting such games after June 1.

"We are allowing this time period," he said, "For game users who may have acted upon advice that their activities were not in violation of the lottery laws as previously interpreted in Missouri."

He has concluded "the fact that these games being an ascertainable number of customers to the game sponsor's place of business is a consideration equivalent to money as far as the game sponsor is concerned.

"In addition, the act of the prospective participant in going to a retail outlet to participate in the game of chance is consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. The time and effort expended traveling to the retail store may be measured as an expense in terms of money to the prospective participant."

Previous legal opinions by Missouri attorneys general have held those considerations were not equivalent to money. Danforth, a Republican, said the change in policy will mean a number of previous legal opinions will have to be withdrawn by his office.

He said he had not yet decided whether to file civil or criminal actions against the companies who continue such operations beyond June 1.

Meanwhile, his staff will continue its investigations and stockpile evidence. If he files civil suits, he said, he will demand the companies show cause why their Missouri charters should not be cancelled, barring them from further business in this state.

He was not sure whether he could instigate felony suits without a request from the governor but he felt sure Gov. Warren E. Hearnes would make that request if the investigation showed the state had a good chance of winning.

He said any county prosecuting attorney could file suit against companies operating the games if he wanted to provide a test case in Missouri. He said he felt sure many of the store managers and filling station operators would welcome a court decision the games are illegal.

"It all costs them money," he said.

Farmers Mailed Ballots on Cotton Allotments Transfer

BENTON - Shirley McArthur, chairman of the Scott county ASCS committee, announces that ballots are being mailed to all known cotton producers in the county to determine if the transfer of cotton allotments across county lines will be permitted for the 1970 crop year. The voting period will be from May 5 through May 9.

The vote will decide only the question of whether a farmer in Scott county can sell or lease his cotton allotment to someone who would use it in another county. Transfer of allotments between farms within the same county is already provided for by law. A "yes" vote by at least two-thirds of the farmers voting would permit such transfer.

Farmers are cautioned to follow all instructions in marking their ballots. The certification on the back of the envelope sent to producers must be signed before returning the ballot to the county office. Ballots are kept secret, although the counting of the ballots by the county committee may be witnessed by the public.

Scott County producers are also reminded that farmers who signed in the 1969 wheat program must report their wheat acreage at the county office before May 15. To date, only about one-half of the farmers have filed their reports. Reports of acreages for feed grain, cotton and diverted acres will be accepted up to July 15.

More Than 150 Students To Be Honored Monday

More than 150 students comprising the top 10 per cent of their classes will be honored Monday night at the Sikeston Senior High cafetorium.

Roger Sherman, principal, said this is more students than before, but is due to an increase in students and the addition of freshmen students.

Featured speaker of the Honor's Reception, which begins at 7 p.m., will be Dr. Murell Baker, chancellor of the University of Missouri at Rolla. His topic will be "dangers to a society without direction."

David Blanton, chairman of the Sikeston Education Foundation, will be master of ceremonies. Gary Long, a senior and president of the National Honors Society, will give the invocation.

Thad Ryan, vice principal, will introduce the seniors. Robert Mitchell, president of the Sikeston School Board of Education, will present awards.

Music will be provided by the Sikeston High Orchestra under the direction of Richard Powell.

Sherman said everyone, particularly parents, are invited to attend and hear Dr. Baker speak.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We wonder if the deaths of Charles Chandler and Virgil Burks Jr. does not make a lot of Sikeston folks wake up and become interested in how lousy the presidents and State Department is allowing this war to be fought.

Now while all hearts in Sikeston are heavy we would like for every Sikestonian to get the May issue of the Readers Digest and turn to page 118 and read what Admiral U. S. Grant Sharp says in his article "We could have won in Vietnam long ago".

We can understand the disinterest shown by lots of people until it is brought home.

Our condolences to Mr. and Mrs. Max Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Burks Sr.

You might write to our Senators and Congressman and urge them to get on the ball and get this thing over with or get out.

Remember what appeacement to Hitler by the allies brought on or do you?

GOODWILL WEEK

National observance of Goodwill Week this year will come during the period May 4-10. Founded at the turn of the Century, Goodwill Industries today has built the largest network of private vocational, educational agencies in the world serving all types of handicapped people. There are now 136 autonomous Goodwill Industries, 42 branch workshops in 178 cities in the United States and another 22 located abroad.

The purpose of Goodwill remains the same – to rehabilitate disabled lives and limbs. In recent years, the emphasis on the idea of service has been greatly expanded. Of the 80,000 people being helped by Goodwill some 50,000 receive the traditional job opportunity and experience. But, half of these persons are also being helped by additional evaluation, counseling, psychological and medical care and therapy. In 1967, the 50,000 employed handicapped persons earned $37 million instead of living on charity from friends or relatives, or on a dole from government agencies. They paid a total tax bill of $3.5 million.

But, the importance of Goodwill Industries cannot be measured in money alone. Its most important contribution to the nation's life lies in what it gives to those it helps in terms of hope, self-respect and a chance to build productive, interesting lives. The spirit of initiative and self-help represented by this fine organization is exemplary. This nation could use large doses of the same spirit in the running of more of its affairs.

CONTRIBUTION ANYONE?

The Better Business Bureau of Northeast Kansas (in Topeka) reports in its bulletin that our area is constantly undergoing a seige of solicitations and the BBB suggests some rules to follow before responding with a contribution:

–Learn exact name and address of soliciting organization, as well as the name of its principals. Certain questionable organizations have intentionally adopted names of well known charities.

–Pay no attention to unordered merchandise or tickets accompanied by a request for payment. In Kansas you are under no obligation to pay for or to return them. If you wish to return the merchandise mark "refused" on the package and the post office will see that the sender pays the postage.

–Request confirmation by letter, when solicited by phone. "Boiler - room" tactics (high pressure via telephone) are not employed by legitimate organizations.

–Demand to know how much of your dollar actually will reach the cause for which it is solicited. Ask for written proof.

–Don't be impressed by the use of names of well known persons. Such use may be unauthorized.

–Do not pay in cash. If you contribute, write a check and mail it to the headquarters of the organization.

–Don't be impressed by every appeal having a religious angle. Some are "one-man organizations" or "storefront churches" with a trick name masking a "fast buck" operation.

–Beware of threats, "pressure" selling, promises of favors or protection, when urged to buy advertising space and ignore the sly suggestion that you need friends among factory inspectors, or the police, etc.

Restrict contributions to bona fide charities on which adequate information has been obtained – but we suggest you phone the local chamber of commerce office when in doubt.

WORK FOR THE COMPANY THAT'S TRYING TO DO AWAY WITH JOBS

Any ambitious young man or woman should find the company that is investing everything it can in the most modern work-saving machinery, i.e., in automation. That is the company which is constantly reducing costs so it can reduce prices or produce a better product. That is the company, therefore, which is growing faster than its industry average and so has to hire more workmen. That is the company which can afford to pay better wages to attract the best workmen.

One of the nation's great industrialists says, "All my life I have been trying to do away with jobs in our plant by buying more and better machinery, but all I do is need more workmen to supply the demand for everything we make".

SHELLY-Y SHALL-Y. Rejection by the Army of 90-mm. tank shells that exploded prematurely cost the government $3 million, according to a recent General Accounting Office report. GAO said the Army inspected the ammo only six times during manufacture when it should have been inspected 38 times. Manufacture of 118,375 rounds of the projectiles had been completed before the Army rejected 39,769 rounds.

The farmer held his pig closer to more apples, caught his breath and answered, "What is time to a pig?"

The Quiet American

Nearly eight years have passed since John F. Kennedy chose Dean Rusk as his secretary of state -- eight of the most strenous years any secretary has borne. Yet though the State Department has been the graveyard of many a reputation, Dean Rusk emerges unscathed -- a quiet firm, persistent American who has been wholly devotedto the welfare of his country.

Rusk now prepares to return to the Rockefeller Foundation, which he served as president from 1952 to 1961. He will become the foundation's first distinguished fellow at the end of the Johnson administration Jan. 20, free to rest, to think, and to put on paper his recollections of a momentous and contentious period of American life. Except for his foundation years, he has been a distinguished and dedicated civil servant since the end of the World War II.

Few secretaries of state have lived through as important a period of American history. Typical of his steady hand under pressure was the role he played when the Cuban crisis arose, one settled by President Kennedy with Rusk's sage advice. "We're eyeball to eyeball, and I think the fellow just blinked," was his deathless comment when thyhe Soviets backed down and a nuclear was was averted. He was also the author of a line that is likely to be remembered: "The eagle in the great seal of the United States has two claws, one bearing arrows, the other an olive branch.

In words as in action Secretary Rusk has been a dedicated man. He supported the United States stand against communist agression in South Vietnam, and he bore with exemplary patience the rancor that developed when that venture failed to yield quick victory. He was the first secretary to face the new concept of an indefinite war, in which neither side would win, and in which political considerations played a constantly weightier part.

History may amend the conclusion, but at this moment Dean Rusk seems the prototype of the gallant man, the self-effacing servant of the American people. He has borne with courage and good humor a crushing weight in a period of increasingly complex diplomacy. Americans regardless of party and regardless of opinion about the wisdom of our involvement in Vietnam will join in wishing him well in the years to come.

STUDENTS WHO BUILD, NOT DESTROY

Only a small minority of college students are destructive. The majority of our young people are constructive. They want to build, not tear down.

Recently at Allen University in Columbia, South Carolina, the students demonstrated their desire to help their university.

Allen University is quite small and is having financial difficulties. When the students were informed of a $350,000 debt which needed to be paid, they held a meeting and decided to raise the money themselves. They were willing to undertake this task, even though there were only 750 students on the entire campus, most of whom came from poor families.

The students are keeping their word. Beginning in January of this year, they have been holding a variety of fund-raising projects such as dances, concerts, and exhibits. These events have been meeting with great success, and slowly but surely the money is being accumulated.

The students have the full support of the president of Allen, Dr. J.W. Hairston, and are being assisted in their efforts by many radio and television personalities who recognize the value of what the students are doing. The local community has enthusiastically rallied around the fund drive.

Congressman Albert Watson, who represents the Columbia area, has praised the students. He calls their efforts "symbolic of the typical American student who takes pride in his school and the opportunity that schools affords him for excellence in tomorrow's world."

Congressman Watson adds: "These students are to be commended and they deserve the support of everyone genuinely interested in the future of our college and universities. HLH

NEW YORK AP) — Just because he kisses a tiger on the maw twice a day, Gunther Ge' bel-Williams has been able to buy only $20,000 in life insurance.

"And the premium goes up every two years," he said.

At 34 Gunther is the new superstar of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, an animal trainer so highly thought of in Europe that it bought up an entire German circus just to get his services.

His animal troupe includes nine tigers, 17 elephants, 40 horses, 50 pigeons, and 10 parrots.

The tiger Gunther smooches, Bengal, is one he raised from a cub. In the climax of his act he sits astride Bengal who is mounted on the back of an elephant.

"People in the audience rarely realize how difficult it is to get tigers and elephants to perform together," he said. "They are natural enemies. In India 20 per cent of baby elephants are killed by tigers.

"But I got the elephants used to Bengal when he was a cub. Most tigers can't stand to be touched. But Bengal loves for me to tickle him under the chin."

Gunther, a slender, blue-eyed man with startling yellow hair, is as handsome as a movie star and has attracted some interest among movie moguls. But the circus remains his world.

A man of leopardlike grace and vitality, Gunther works in the ring without a gun or chair. He avoids the loud dramatics of the Clyde Beatty school of animal training.

"You do it with your voice and the impression of strength you give the animals," he said. "They must respect you and feel that you understand them.

"But with tigers you must all the time be like Tarzan."

The task requires almost endless patience. It takes Gunther six months to teach a tiger to roll over on command. He spent a year perfecting the act in which he, Bengal and the elephant form a pyramid.

"You cannot tell a wild animal he simply must, must, must learn to do a trick today. You must feel that perhaps he will do better tomorrow."

Gunther's arms are deeply scarred by claw marks from his surly charges. But he bears them no malice.

"When these things happen, it is always your own fault," he remarked philosophically. "It happens only when, during training, you get too close to them—so they claw you."

The trainer lives in a trailer parked near his tigers with his wife, Sigrid, a former German model, and their daughter, Tina, who at 6 aspires to be a bareback rider.

"You must stay near your animals all the time so they won't become frightened," he said. "I have never had a vacation from them. I get nervous even if I leave them to go to a movie."

Washington - Merry - Go- Round

By Drew Pearson

--Campus Revolt--

Beginning on Jan. 13, 1969, Drew Pearson wrote a series of columns regarding revolt on the campuses. He had visited, at that time, a total of fifty in one year. He reported that the inspiraion for the campus revolt came from a small, well-organized group, the students for a democratic society, with links to leaders in Germany and France. The SDS appeared to be anarchists, rather than communists, Pearson said.

Since then, the campus revolt has spread. And last week Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., announced that she would summon "the real revolutionaries and anarchists" in an investigation of unrest in the Universities.

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Campus extremists concern Nixon; SDS learns laws can be used as well as abused; young wallaceites battle Nazi takeover.

WASHINGTON--President Nixon is worried about the dangerous polarization now taking place on college campuses across the nation.

At one extreme are the militants of the new left, who are more interested in confrontation and chaos than reform. At the other extreme are the militants of the radical right, who are preparing to meet violence with violence. Disciples of Adolf Hitler, for example, have grabbed control of the former youth for Wallace organization which campaigned for presidential candidate George Wallace last year.

Nixon has called the attention of his subordinates to a statement by Dr. S.J. Tonsor, a University of Michigan professor, who declared in a recent speech: "Both the extreme right and the extreme left hold he same destructive view. Both Mark Rudd of Columbia (a student radical) and George Wallace of Alabama stand in he schoolroom door, and . . they both hold the same low view of reasoned discourse."

The President offered this statement to key subordinates to guide them in setting the administration's policies toward campus disorders.

Meanwhile the students for a democratic society, whose leaders have been kicking up trouble on the campuses, have quietly embraced the legal system they seek to overthrow. They have obtained legal advice from Edward Bennett Williams' prestigious Washington law firm, which counseled them to incorporate as a non-profit organization.

This not only would permit them to raise funds and organize demonstrations free of government interference, but would make it easier for them to escape individual liability.

--Everything Legal--

Before they hit the American university and George Washington university campuses last week, they adopted the Williams Firm's advice and quietly incorporated on April 10. The corporate papers list three student radicals--Hank Topper, Cathlyn Wilkerson and Andrew St. John--as the Incorporators.

At the same time, Anti-Nazi youth leaders are seeking legal aid to get the former youth for Wallace organization back from Willis Carto, the Nazi philosopher, organizer and financial wizard who gained control through the power of the purse.

He poured more than $40,000 into the Wallace youth movement during the 19680 presidential campaign. By controlling the purse strings, he was able to get custody of the organization's membership lists, contributors' lists and bank assets.

Last Nov. 15, shortly after the election, Carto called the youth for Wallace leaders together and persuaded them to keep the organization intact. They renamed it the national youth alliance, adopted the Nazi credo as its guiding philosphy, launched a propaganda campaign against campus communists and organized rallies across the nation -- at Georgia Tech in Atlanta, UCLA in Los Angeles, Brigham Young university in Provo, Utah, and other universities.

At Wayne State Universitiy in Detroit, they organized a "Shock Squad" armed with rifles and trained in Karate. They are now planning a "White Power" rally at UCLA.

In a letter to NYA leaders, Carto explained that "our strategy has to be to aim for building a hard core for leadership and then to try and get a large following in every section of the country."

The Nazi takeover was so subtle, however, that most of the youth leaders didn't realize it. Carto got their agreement that the NYA would take its ideology from "Imperium." Unfortunately, the young leaders hadn't heard of "Imperium" and didn't realize it was the "Mein Kampf" of the American Nazi movement.

Not until too late did they discover that they had agreed, in effect, to turn the NYA into a Hitler youth movement. The Nazis finally surfaced at a Jan. 25th meeting at Conley's motel near Monroeville, Pa. They wore swastika pins, displayed swastika banners, sang Nazi marching songs and traded Nazi war relics.

The NYA's national officers--John Acord, Dennis McMahon and Louis Andres--immediately tried to purge the Nazis but were forced out themselves by Carto. Another anti-Nazi slate, headed by NYA chairman Pat Tifer, a Wayne State student, won a subsequent election at an NYA organizational meeting March 29-30 at Pittsburgh's pick-Roosebvelt Hotel.

Tifler immediately fired off a blistering letter to Carto, declaring that his election was "a clear, final and absolute rejection of the philosphy of Naziism and those in our organization who were promoting various shades of it.

"It is becoming increasingly apparent to me that these Pro-Nazi parasites in our organization are not only maintaining their membership but, with your encouragement, continuing under the name of the NYA to spread their sick philosophy of totalitarianism.

"Therefore, and with no regrets," he added, "I as national chairman of NYA am hereby revoking your associate membership . . . your placement of pro-nazi individuals into key leadership positions and your fostering of a brown-shirt mentality in the NYA is intolerable.

"Also I am ordering an immediate halt to the distribution of the book, 'Imperium' because of its blatant racists and anti-christian stance. I order you to turn over to me all bank assets. Membership files, contributor lists and other important documents necessary to the maintenance of NYA."

Carto countered by having his stooges in the NYA send Tifer a telegram declaring that he had been ousted. Meanwhile, Carto not only holds all the NYA's finances and records but he is going ahead with a $17,000 program to publish "Imperium" in paperback for distribution on the campuses. He also sent money to NYA leaders in Massachusetts to spread anti-communist literature at Harvard.

Most of the former youth for Wallace leaders, however, stand with Tifer and will join him in legal action against the Nazis.

By REEDUS M. BAUGHER

Some have the idea, that, the common people can't understand the Bible. And therefore, many have excused themselves from studying the Sacred writings and learning what God has said to them through His Holy word. The very idea of "revelation" is something that has been uncovered, made known, or revealed; and Paul said, that the word of God is a revelation. The Bible teaches through intelligent, plain, and simple writings. These writings give us the evidence and substance upon which to build our faith. (Heb. 11:1; Jno. 20:30-31) However, one must read and study these writings in order to comprehend and rightly divide. Hence we are told: 'Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." (2 Tim. 2:15) But there are certain rules of Bible study which are necessary to a proper understanding of God's word. The first rule is with each individual, and it is that one must study (1) Sincerely If we all would study sincerely, diligently, and orderly all of God's word, only He knows how much of our misunderstanding and disagreement would culminate into understanding and unity. Honesty is essential to understanding. An open mind is also a prerequisite to learning. Hence, one must approach the study of the Bible with an open mind and honestly and sincerely search for its truths. Next, we need, (2) "To rightly divide the word." The two major divisions of the of the Bible are the Old Testament and the New Testament. The Old Testament points to Christ, and now that Christ has come, we are no longer under the law (Gal. 3:23-25) This, by no means says that the Old Testament is to be done away with, for it serves many purposes (Rom. 15:4; 1 Cor. 10: 1-11) Through it we see, the creation of the world, how God dealt with sin, ect. But no one can be justified by it today (Acts 13:39). We need next to, (3) "Study the context" By this, we mean, to bring together all the ideas that might be focused in a particular passage. A verse taken out of its setting, can be twisted, misused, and made to teach error. Satan did this. (Matt. 4:6). We need also to: (3) "Study all the Bible Teaches on a subject." The Bible is a perfect book of unity, and it will certainly do violence to the scriptures to array one passage against another. The Bible does not contradict itself and if we run into a supposed contradiction, we need to study every passage that deals with the subject to get the entire truth on the topic. On the subject of salvation, so many go to a single passage of scripture and base their eternal salvation on that one verse. When that verse is to be taken in connection with the rest of the Bible. For an example, the Ephesians were saved by GRACE through FAITH. (Eph. 2:8) This not only envolved God, but, also man. There was a co-operation between God and man. God revealed His plan through (grace) man accepted the plan through (faith) Notice all that the scriptures teach us the Ephesians did;

1. They heard the word of truth. (Eph. 1:13)
2. They believed. (1:13)
3. They repented. (Acts 20:21)
4. They were baptized. (Acts 19:1-5)

The Ephesians were saved, not by one thing, but by all things which God revealed in His word. Jesus died to bring into existence His last will and Testament. (Heb. 9:15-17) Let us learn what He wants us to do through this medium, by "rightly dividing the word."

Ear Specialists Concerned About Deafness in Teenagers

Dear Ann Landers: Last night my 16-year-old granddaughter gave a party. There were at least 30 teen-agers in the house. They rolled back the rugs, moved all the furniture on the porch and placed music for dancing. I didn't seen any dancing -- just some catatonic, zombie-like motions and a lot of jerking and shaking.

What disturbed me more than anything was the music. It gave me a splitting headache. The kids these days insist on turning up the stereo amplifier as high as it will go. It virtually assaults the eardrums.

I notice that our teen-age grandchildren do not hear their parents when they speak in normal conversational tones. Unless instructions are screamed they are ignored. I think the kids are actually deaf. My husband says, "There's nothing wrong with their hearing. They hear when they want to."

Tell me, Ann, is it possible that our teen-agers are becoming hard of hearing because of the loud music they seem to idolize? If so, someone should tell them. --- Antique Ada

Dear Ann: Someone has told them. Ear specialists are deeply concerned and have said so. It has been proved that loud music produces serious hearing problems among the young. Several cases of permanent deafness among musicians have been noted. So take heed, kids, and turn down the volume. Do you hear me out there? I SAY -- TURN DOWN THE VOLUME!!!!

Dear Ann Landers: My mother is 53 and looks 40. After Dad died two years ago Mum started to go with a divorced man who is about five years her junior. Barry is handsome, charming, allergic to work in any form and, in my opinion, rotten to the core.

I've seen Barry around town with at least three different chippies. Of course I've never mentioned it to anyone. About a month ago Mum and I ran into Barry and a trollop, or should I say THEY ran into us. Literally. I was parking the car and Barry's car sideswept us. No one was hurt but Mom fell apart when she saw them (Barry was supposed to be out of town).

Since that night Mum has had stomach pains and has been doctoring to beat the band. She's had x-rays, is taking pills and sedatives and is on a special diet. Her doctor can't find anything wrong with her. I know she is tied up in knots over her love affair which is going haywire.

Should I make an appointment to see the Doctor and tell him the background before she quits him and goes to another doctor who might take out her gall bladder? --- Worried Daughter

Dear Daughter: It is extremely helpful to the physician if he knows something about the patient's emotional problems. I suggest that you write the doctor a note. An appointment would take up valuable time which could be

MSHSAA Takes Action Against KC Lincoln

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Lincoln High School of Kansas City was placed on probation today by the Missouri State High School Activities Association for incidents that took place during and after a basketball game at the Kansas City Interscholastic fieldhouse March 10.

The game involved Central High School of St. Joseph and Lincoln and it was terminated with two seconds playing time remaining after both officials in the game had been struck by a spectator.

F. C. Baker, principal of the St. Joseph school, said he was injured in the melee, and at least six St. Joseph fans said they were injured in fights in or around the fieldhouse.

The association's board of control laid down a 7-point ruling concluding that "the privileges of interscholastic athletics will not be denied students at Lincoln High School provided the conditions of this probation are met and improvement is shown."

The control board directed that the school organize a program to improve conduct at interscholastic events, that students and players be informed that they must become involved in improving sportsmanship if interscholastic athletics are to be continued at Lincoln, and that coaches at Lincoln shall have established certain policies as guidelines.

The board also asked parents to become involved in assisting the school to improve sportsmanship and that there be adequate supervision at contests, emphasizing that each school is responsible for the conduct of its teams, coaches, students and fans both at home and away.

The board asked for progress reports from Lincoln and instructed that the MSHSAA office assist the school in any way possible.

The incident at the fieldhouse got considerable notice when Baker announced his team would not return to finish the tournament playoffs. Central's next game was transferred to Maryville where it lost to William Chrisman. Under no circumstances, Baker announced, would he bring Central back to the Kansas City court. "It's like a lion's den," he said.

Shortly after the game the Jackson County prosecutor, Joe Teasdale, filed a charge of felonious assault against W. D. Roby, 18, a spectator who was identified as a student from another Kansas City school.

The prosecutor said the weapon Roby was accused of using in striking a referee was a heavy vinyl-covered rope six or eight feet long with a metal ring at one end and a hook at the other. The metal fixtures were said to weigh about a pound apiece.

Roby waived a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Bernard W. Gnefkow in Kansas City Wednesday and was bound over for trial in circuit court.

Memphis Open Set May 29-June 1

MEMPHIS, Tenn. - There is every indication that the Colonial Country Club golf course will be in absolutely peak condition for the 12th annual staging of the Memphis Open, May 29 - June 1, 1969. Club professional Jake Fondren and course superintendent Ed Nunley are pleased enough with early prospects to predict thatthe course will be in best shape ever.

"We are three weeks ahead of last year in getting the course ready," Mr. Nunley said. The coating of straw used to protect the regular greens during the winter was removed in mid-March, and the Tifton 328 bermuda began coming through almost immediately, with only a minimum of foreign grass present. The fairways also survived the winter in better than normal condition. Mr. Nunley feels that poisoning out the foreign grass in the fairways will be relatively easy job, and that by tournament time they will be verdant strips of almost pure bermuda grass - pleasant to the eye and offering good lies for the players.

No attempts will be made to toughen the course especially for the tournament. The fairways will be kept at their normal width. Colonial is a tight golf course under normal conditions, and tournament officials saw no need for further tightening by letting the rough grow in to make the fairways narrower.

The rough will be allowed to grow to a height of four inches, which is the same as it has been for previous Memphis Opens. The greens will be cut to three-sixteenths of an inch if the weather is dry, or to seven thirty- seconds of an inch if it is wet. This will produce medium-speed greens - slower than the greens at the Masters, for example, but fast enough to call for a certain amount of caution on approach putts. Reading breaks on the greens should be no great problem for the experienced pros; the ball will go just about where it looks like it should.

Colonial has been called a relatively easy golf course for the pros. At 6,466 yards, it is shorter than most tournament courses, but it nevertheless demands good tee-shot placement and intelligent play overall. Many a player has underestimated it, to his sorrow and embarrassment. The tournament record for a single round of 63 is one stroke lower than for the Masters, and Bert Yancey's Memphis Open record total of 265 is six strokes higher than Jack Nicklaus's record of 271 at the Augusta National National Golf Club.

There have been no fluke winners of the Memphis Open. Bob Lunn was a virtual unknown when he won here in 1968, but he quickly established his authenticity as a fine player, and will return to defend his championship as one of the real stars of the P.G.A. Tour. Others who have won or been in playoffs include Ben Hogan, Gary Middlecoff, Jack Nicklaus, Gene Littler, the late Tony Lema, Tommy Bolt, Mike Souchak, Gary Player, and Lionel Hebert.

This year's field figures to be great in all respects. The $150,000 in prize money, up $50,000 for last year, plus the incidental fact that the Memphis Open comes just two weeks before the National Open at the Champions Club at Houston, will surely leave no players lacking in incentive to come to Memphis.

Track Classic Draws KHS's Greg Buys

MEXICO – Five Missouri high school track stars are among the first entries in the sixth annual Midwest Classic invitational track meet to be held June 9 here.

Greg Buys, a senior from Kennett, has hurled the discus 173-11 and has recorded a 60-1 heave in the shotput.

Buys' discus mark is easily the best yet entered in this year's Classic, but he could have trouble in the shotput if Hannibal's Terry Coons has a good day.

Coons has recorded a 53-9 in his speciality, and will also compete in the discus. His longest in that event is a 140-11 throw.

Drixel's Joe Balentine and Galena's Kennie Flood are neck - and - neck in the long jump field with marks of 21-0.

Both are versatile athletes and are entered in three events. In addition to the long jump, Flood has recorded times of 10.2 in the 100 and 23.0 in the 220.

Balentine, a pole vaulter and high jumper, has cracked 12-8 and 5-10 in those events.

Also entered in the high jump is Mike Tracy of Fair Grove High, who has jumped 6-0 this spring. He will have to hustle, however, to beat Randy Smith of McPherson, Kans., who is the top entry at 6-3½.

Home state athletes have always done well in the Classic, which draws top high school performers from throughout the Midwest.

Phil Cosey of Kansas City holds the meet record in the 100 with a 9.6 clocking, while Norris White, also from Kansas City, holds the long jump mark of 23-4¼.

Dave Bussabarger of Columbia set the pole vault record of 14-7 last summer, but Plattsburg's Charles Scearce has held the 220 standard of 21.0 since 1965.

Lakers Take Lead; Jerry West Injured

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers head to Boston leading the National Basketball Association championship playoffs 3-2 but with their sharpest shooter, Jerry West, injured.

After scoring 39 points in the Lakers' 117-104 triumph at The Forum on Thursday night, West limped from the floor with a pulled left hamstring muscle.

"I'm sure when I wake up Saturday morning, I'll know if I can play or not," said Jerry after undergoing initial treatment.

The sixth game of the bestof-seven series goes at the Boston Garden at 5 p.m. EDT, Saturday afternoon. Without West, who has been averaging 39.6 against the Celtics, the Laker offense loses its zing, and Los Angeles must win once more to take the title.

"I was stretching and Emmette Bryant bumped me," was the way West described the injury. "You only pull a muscle by stretching it, not by getting hit by somebody."

Also injured, but not so seriously, was 7-foot-2 Wilt Chamberlain who suffered a bruised eye when he was hit, also by Bryant.

Chamberlain was hurt in the third period, but returned after a minute's rest.

"Things were blurry for the rest of the game," asserted the big guy who hauled down 31 rebounds while his arch-foe Bill Russell could grab but 13.

Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff made a lineup switch when he sent Keith Erickson in at a starting forward spot, primarily to check John Havlicek, the Celtic's scoring star.

Havlicek scored only six points through three periods although winding up with 18. When Erickson would leave, Tom Hawkins came in to handle the guarding assignment.

"I made up my mind to start Erickson after the Tuesday night game," the coach said. In that 89-88 Laker loss in Boston, Erickson didn't allow Havlicek a field goal in the final period.

"If West can't play Saturday, Keith will go to the back court," Van Breda Kolff added.

Boston led 24-23 at the end of the first quarter before the 17,553 fans, but the Lakers rallied in the second and pulled ahead at 49-45.

Perhaps the most important play came midway in the third when West drove in to score on a reverse layup and draw a foul from Russell, the fourth for the player-coach, who had to go cautiously from then on.

Russell refused comment but Havlicek said, "we were hurt because we were double teaming a lot and the open man was scoring, sometimes Egan, sometimes Erickson. I just didn't have a good shooting night early in the game. Sam Jones and Larry Siegfried were shooting well, so I didn't take as many shots as I might have normally."

Egan, the running mate for Wet in the back court, scored 23 points while Erickson tallied 16.

Jones paced Boston with 25 while Siegfried tallied 20.

Pitching Comeback In Majors

Revenge Motivates Wilson's No-Hitter

Pitcher Don Wilson of the struggling Houston Astros rubbed shoulders with baseball's elite for the second time in his career today all because of bitterness toward the Cincinnati Reds and a burning desire to get even.

Wilson blazed his right-handed slants past the Reds Thursday night for a brilliant no-hit, 4-0 victory and then said bluntly:

"I don't like them.

"I wanted to pay them back for what they did to us when they beat me 14-0" on April 22 at Houston's Astrodome. "They stuck out their tongues at us. They laughed at us.

"They embarrassed us ... I was pretty strongly motivated not only for the win but to get the no-hitter. I wanted to prove to them we are professionals, too."

It was the second no-hitter at Cincinnati's Crosley Field in 24 hours. Only Wednesday night, the Reds' Jim Maloney had blanked the Astros—on hits and runs—10-0.

Wilson's performance took the spotlight quickly off of the Los Angeles Dodgers' Don Sutton, who in an afternoon game at San Francisco just missed a nohitter when Jim Davenport doubled for the lone Giants hit with one out in the eighth. The Dodgers won 5-0. In other NL games, Montreal nipped New York 3-2, St. Louis clobbered Pittsburgh 9-3 and San Diego edged Atlanta 4-3.

Wilson said Thursday night's no-hitter gave him "more personal satisfaction than my first one in Atlanta" as a rookie two years ago. He struck out 13 batters, walked six and hit one.

Only two Reds reached second. Johnny Bench walked and stole second in the second inning. Wilson walked pinch hitter Jim Stewart and Pete Rose in the eighth.

His verbal blasts at the Reds brought this comment from Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol:

"I'm not a Don Wilson fan. I don't think many of our guys think much of wilson either."

Astros Manager Harry Walker paused to compare the performances of both Wilson and Maloney.

"My man had a rougher time of it," Walker said, "because he was under pressure all the way. He had not won on the road this year, and he did not have a big lead like Maloney."

Doug Rader put Wilson ahead in the fourth with a home run. Dennis Menke's double scored two more runs in the fifth. The Astros got their last run in the eighth on Curt Blefary's triple and Wilson's sacrifice fly. Wilson's record now is 2-3.

Wilson, 24-25 in his brief carcer with the Astros going into this season, has had startling success against the Reds in the past. Last July 14, he tied the major league record by striking out 18 Cincinnati batters, including a record-tying eight in succession.

This was only the second time in baseball history two consecutive no-hitters have been pitched in the same park involving the same clubs. The Giants' Gaylord Perry beat St. Louis 1-0 last Sept. 17 in a night game at San Francisco. The Cardinals' Ray Washburn got a 2-0 no-hit triumph over the Giants the next afternoon.

Sutton's conquest of the Giants Thursday ended San Francisco's nine-game winning streak and left the Dodgers and Giants tied for first in the NL's Western Division. Sutton, 3-2, has pitched 25 successive scoreless innings.

Sutton almost got into trouble in the opening inning when he issued walks to Don Mason with one out and Willie McCovey with two outs. Dave Marshall's grounder forced Mason at second, and Jack Hiatt fouled out.

Tom Haller drove in two runs in the fourth and Willie Davis and Bill Sudakis slammed homers in the fifth and sixth for the Dodgers.

Montreal's triumph broke the Mets' three-game winning streak in an afternoon affair in Montreal. Jose Laboy's ninth-inning sacrifice fly scored pinch runner Ron Brand for the winning run. Donn Clendenon homered for the Expos. Elroy Face, 1-0, was the victor and Don Cardwell, 0-4, the loser.

San Diego beat the Braves at Atlanta when Tony Gonzalez crashed a two-run, eighth-inning homer. Orlando Cepeda had given the Braves a three-run bulge in the third with a triple and then scored on a wild throw.

Cardinals Beat Pirates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nelson Briles held Pittsburgh to six hits to notch his first victory of the season as the St. Louis Cardinals clobbered the Pirates 9-3, while the Kansas City Royals squeaked past the Chicago White Sox for the second straight night, 5-4 in 12 innings, Thursday night.

Briles, who had lost two decisions, benefited from an 11-hit Cardinal attack which was paced by Jim Hicks' two-run triple—his first hit of the season—and Vada Pinson's three runs batted in on a double and sacrifice fly.

Hicks staked the Cards to a 2-0 lead in the fourth, and they got the eventual winning run on an error, a single by Julian Javier and a sacrifice fly by Curt Flood in the fifth.

Briles said the hit gave him a boost. "I finally had the control I've wanted," he said. "Maybe this is a sign things will be going better for us."

Vada Pinson, who did not start the game because of a sore leg, came in as a pinch batter in the eighth inning to drive in two runs and score one himself.

"I told Red (Manager Red Schoendienst) I could pinch hit and he put me in. It worked out okay," Pinson said.

The Pirates got to Briles for a pair of unearned runs in the sixth, but St. Louis got going again with three runs each in the eighth and ninth innings. Errors by Javier and Mike Shannon led to the Pirates' two runs in the sixth.

The Cardinals return home and tonight open a three-game weekend series in Busch Stadium against Philadelphia. Kansas City embarked on an 11-day road trip, starting tonight with a doubleheader at California.

PITCHING - Don Wilson, Astros, hurled the second no-hitter of his three-year career, blanking Cincinnati 4-0 and striking out 13 to dpulicate Reds ace Jim Maloney's no-hit feat against Houston the previous night.

BATTING - Bill Freehan, Tigers, hit his 99th career homer, a two-run fifth inning blast that gave Detroit a 2-0 victory over Baltimore.

Glaciers cover one-eighth of Iceland's 39,768 square miles.

McLain, Boswell Notch Victories

Denny McLain and Dave Boswell are walking around with lumps on their heads today. It only hurts when they laugh.

McLain tossed three hitless innings against Baltimore Thursday night before trying to field Bog Powell's comeback bouncer with his forehead. It went for a single, but the Detroit ace shook off the cobwebs and yielded just two more hits as the Tigers beat the Orioles 20 on Bill Freehan's homer.

Boswell, his eye blackened and knee bruised from a scuffle with a fan the previous day, pitched five strong innings before giving way to reliever Joe Grzenda as the Minnesota Twins trimmed Seattle 4-1 in an afternoon game for their sixth straight victory.

McLain, who brought his record to 4-3 in a tight duel with previously unbeaten Jim Palmer, accepted his bump on the noggin in typical good humor. "It stunned me, that's all," said the 1968 American League MVP. "If it hits my glove, I've got it. They call me 'Hot Hands.'"

Boswell, roughed up by the unidentified spectator after Wednesday's game against the Pilots, was understandably, a little less cheerful after his gutsy pitching effort for the streaking Twins.

He said the fan walked up to him and hit him on the head. Whn he asked for an apology, about five others tried to get at him.

"It was a free-for-all ... on me," said the Minnesota righthander, who was rescued by teammates Cesar Tovar and John Roseboro. "It bothers me when a guy like that comes up to you and treats you like an animal."

Boswell brightened when asked about Thursday's victory. "Joe (Grzenda) did his thing. Everybody did their thing," he said.

In other AL games, California nipped Oakland 3-2 in 10 innings; Kansas City edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4 in 12; Washington got past Boston 7-6 and Cleveland downed the New York Yankees 6-2.

McLain, beaten by the highflying Orioles at Baltimore eight days ago, struck out six, walked one and won the return match in one hour and 49 minutes.

"I didn't have good stuff in Baltimore, but here I had real good stuff," said the stocky right-hander, who topped the majors with 31 victories a year ago.

Palmer, 3-1, allowed two hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth, but one of them was Freehan's fifth homer, a two-run shot in the fifth. It was the 99th career clout for the big Detroit catcher.

Boswell limited the Pilots to three hits, including a homer by Wayne Comer, before his banged-up left knee forced him out of the game. Grzenda came on to complete a five-hitter and wrap up Boswell's third victory in five decisions.

Rookie Charlie Manuel delivered two Minnesota runs with a third inning single and a basesloaded walk in the fifth.

Oakland reliever Lew Krausse filled the bases on two walks and a single in the 10th inning, then nicked Tom Satriano with a pitch, forcing in the winning run. The Athletics had tied the game in the ninth on Reggie Jackson's two-run homer.

Oakland's Rick Monday, who had equaled Lou Gehrig's AL record of RBI in 10 consecutive games, was shut out by Rudy May and winner Hoyt Wilhelm. Monday went 0-for-3 and never batted with a runner on base.

Joe Foy's run-scoring single in the 12th sent the Royals past Chicago, extending the White Sox' losing string to four games. The Royals caught the Sox in the ninth, when Jack Hernandez singled, took second on left fielder Carlos May's bobble and scored the tying run on a twoout single by pinch hitter Bob Taylor.

May and Don Pavletich homered for the White Sox.

Del Unser's two-run single in the sixth sparked the Senators to their seventh victory in eight starts after Frank Howard tied the game 5-5 in the fifth with his ninth homer.

Ken McMullen hit a two-run homer for the Senators, who vaulted into second place in the East Division, 2½ games behind front-running Baltimore.

The Indians, held hitless by Stan Bahnsen for six innings, clipped him for two runs in the seventh, then broke loose for four runs against Steve Hamilton in the ninth. Duke Sims' three-run homer capped the burst.

Tourism Growing In State

It's that time of year again. Dogwood and redbud are blossoming. Trout are biting. The air has that just-washed smell. Missouri was never more inviting.

And more friends and relatives of Show-Me State residents are going to accept Missouri's invitation this year than ever before. Missouri Tourism Commission estimates indicate that 6,670,000 outstate tourists will visit their friends and relatives while vacationing in Missouri this year.

This figue does not include mothers-in- law who decide to travel from St. Joseph to Sikeston to see their darling daughters or college cronies from Columbia who just happen to be in your vicinity at suppertime. Great aunts from Anabel who want to see just who is "deserving" enough to be left in their wills are not in the count. Neither are next door neighbors who seem glued to the chairs on your patio. Or the screaming brats who always have to play in your back yard.

The answer to this problem is obvious. Escape before the deluge begins. You needn't go far. There's plenty to escape to in Missouri.

For information and a map to help you plan your escape route just write to the Missouri Tourism Commission, 308 E. High St., Box 1055, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

Cites Inconsistencies

To the Editor:

Things are most confusing. It used to be legal to possess gold and illegal to possess liquor. Now it's legal to possess liquor but illegal to possess gold.

We support the franc and the British pound, while we let our dollar go down the drain.

Our government pays farmers a subsidy to grow more tobacco and then requires the warning "May be hazardous to your health" on each pack of cigarettes.

Over the past eight years the nation lost 4.5 million farmers. In the same period, however, the Department of Agriculture added more than 20,000 employees to the payroll.

Weather Station to Stay Open

Area persons were informed for the first time yesterday that the U. S. Weather Bureau at Portageville will remain open, via a radio broadcast by Memphis radio - television farm reporter, Derek Rooke, on a network farm show carried by several area radio stations.

In the broadcast on the Amchem network news, Rooke said he had learned that the Portageville station, and the Jackson, Tenn. weather station would remain open, despite a recent announcement the bureaus would be closed.

Leonard Hand of the Portageville weather center told newsmen yesterday he had known for several days the bureau would be kept in operation, however at the time it was "privileged information." He said he had received official notification by telephone this week.

Earlier, Missouri U. S. Senators Stuart Symington, and Thomas F. Eagleton and Tenth District Congressman Bill D. Burlison expressed concern over the reports that the Farm Weather Bureau Reporting Station was to be closed June 30, 1969.

In a wire to Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, the Missouri lawmakers requested a reconsideration of such a decision in an area "which is one of the richest farm areas in America, with peculiar climatic conditions." They stated that persons in this area needed to continue to receive this essential weather information. (From the Dunklin Democrat)

Groundbreaking Held for New Airport Building

The new airport administration building moves one step closer, when groundbreaking took place Thursday at the south portion of the airport grounds.

The building will be of brick veneer and will measue 27 by 56 feet, and modern in design, with a large window wall facing the taxiways.

The building will cost an estimated $33,850, and will be built by the Brown Construction company of Dexter. Construction will begin immediately, and grading is already underway.

The building will include a manager's office, flight office, ticket sales room and sales office, baggage room and lobby, and completely airconditioned.

All city officials and all members of the airport board, with the exception of Harold Jones, Harold Pitman and Ralph Boyer, were present for the groundbreaking.

Eight--Run For The Roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four thoroughbred champions and four pretenders to glory got their final grooming today for the 95th running of the Kentucky Derby.

The field of eight, one of them a potential scratch, is the smallest in 21 years and, most fans believe, the strongest in a far longer time.

Majestic Prince, the unbeaten and untried king of the West Coast, has been tabbed as the probable betting favorite in the 1¼-mile Run for the Roses tha goes to the post at 5:30 p.m. EDT, Saturday.

Flying the colors of Canadian oil millionaire Frank McMahon, the $250,000 yearling purchase has mowed down 47 opponents in seven races, all of them except his first and last at Santa Anite.

Majestic Prince would be the odds-on choice to cop the $125,000-added Derby except for three things. Their names are Top Knight, Dike and Arts and Letters.

Top Knight has finished first in three of four races this year, although he was disqualified to third in the Bahamas stakes. His only drawback is a fiveweek layoff since his Florida Derby victory.

"If you've only got one good suit, you don't wear it very often," trainer Ray Metcalf said in explaining the sparse racing schedule of the chestnut colt he trains for the Steven B. Wilson estate.

"Top Knight is my only good suit," he chuckled.

Claiborne Farm's Dike, a late-charging son of French Derby champion Herbager, ran poorly in Florida when he was asked for too much too soon, but prompted new hope in victories in New York's Gotham and Wood Memorial.

Arts and Letters, the Virginia-bred property Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable, was a bridesmaid in the Flamingo, Fountain of Youth and Florida Derby, but took center stage with a 15-length victory in th Blue Grass Stakes last week a Keeneland.

So evenly matched are th Big Four that track handicappe John Battaglia made Majesti Prince the probable 6-5 bettin favorite, then turned around an picked Dike as the progran choice.

Challenging the four before an estimated crown of 100,000 are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harris, Rae Jet, Leo Miller's Ocean Roar, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Roberts' Traffic Mark and the Kanowsky syndicate's Fleet Allied.

Rae Jet also was entered in a pair of lesser races Saturday, giving his owners chance to change their minds and save the $1,000 due Saturday for each Derby starter.

If all eight answer the call to the post, the race will gross $155,700, with the winner picking up $113,200. The Derby formula calls for $25,000 for the second finisher, $12,500 for third and $5,000 for fourth.

Top Knight, with rider Manuel Ycaza looking for his first Derby victory after eight misses, drew the inside post position when the eight hopefuls plunked down $500 apiece Thursday to enter.

Arkansas Derby winner Traffic Mark drew the No. 2 post with Arts and Letters, with jockey Braulio Baeza substituting for the injured Bill Shoemaker, in No. 3.

Rae Jet, Fleet Allied and Ocean Roar line up in the fourth to sixth gates with Dike and Panamanian riding phenom Jorge Velasquez in No. 7 and Majestic Prince and Derby sensation Bill Hartack on the outside.

Principal's Son Earns Ph.D

CHARLESTON - Clyde W. Franklin, son of Lincoln School Principal Coy. W. Franklin and Mrs. Bernice Franklin of Blytheville, Ark., has received his doctor of philosophy degree in sociology from the University of Washington at Seattle.

Dr. Franklin completed course requirements for the degree in 1968, and successfully defended his dissertation in Mid-March, according to notification received from Joseph L. McCarthy, dean of the Washington U. Graduate School.

According to Principal Franklin, his son is the first Negro to receive the doctoral degree from the Seattle school in sociology.

Dr. Franklin is married and has three sons, Coy, 3, Seon, 2½, and Clyde, 1.

He is teaching at California State, Fullerton, this year, but has accepted a research position at Ohio State University in Columbus for the 1969-70 school year.

Dr. Franklin graduated from Carver High School in Marked Tree, Ark., where his father was principal, and received the B. A. degree from Arkansas AM&N College, Pine Bluff.

He received his masters degree from Atlanta (Ga.) University, and worked toward to doctorate at the University of Illinois before transferring to SEattle.

More Foreigners Playing U.S. Market

WASHINGTON - (AP) - Foreigners played U. S. stock markets in a big way last year increasing net purchases more than three times any previous year and brightening that corner of the balance of payments picture.

The securities and Exchange Commission reported today purchases of $13.1 billion offset by sales of $10.8 billion for a net of $2.3 billion.

In 1967 net purchases got up to $760 million, reversing the trend from 1964 to 1966 when foreigners sold more U. S. stocks than they purchased.

The SEC said an increasing number of U. S. stock brokerage firms are opening offices in major cities abroad.

Call of Outdoors Boon to Ozarks

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—The lure of the outdoors is pushing suburbia deep into the Ozarks.

Recreation, proximity to recreational centers and a desire for leisurely living have turned one-time remote areas of the hill country into bustling, yet low geared suburbs.

Major impoundments, such as Table Rock Lake, Bull Shoals and Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri, Grand Lake of the Cherokees in Oklahoma and Beaver Lake in Arkansas, are the magnets attracting hordes of pleasure seekers to the hills. Their presence has made tourism a major industry and has eased the economic pain of some depressed areas.

The demands of city life and added leisure hours have enabled city dwellers not only to discover the pleasure of hill living but to take full advantage of it. The result has been a new demand for real estate once relegated to the acorn and the razorback.

Lakefront versions of the sun cities of the Southwest desert country are springing up, creating permanent homes for the retired. Coupled with the resorts and fishing docks which have been cashing in on the weekend and vacation attractions of fishing, boating, skiing, swimming and camping, the greater demand for building and camping sites is a boon to the area.

Federal Reclamation projects, created to alleviate water shortages and provide flood protection, triggered the new way of life. The federal government got into the recreation business quite by accident—it just grew like topsy.

Impoundments were created by dams and reservoirs, first to supply irrigation waters in arid areas. The programs later expanded to other areas of the country, including the Ozarks, for flood control and a source of hydroelectric power.

Other benefits naturally resulted. Water supply source, water quality control, fish and wildlife enhancement and recreational sites all fell into line and are key factors in water control programming. When a lake was created, an attraction for the public was there.

There are some oldtimers who decry the demise of the Ozark river float trips and the solitude of fishing on a river bank. The lakes ended much of that in affected areas, but there is no denying the impact on the economy.

Once the federal government, through the Corps of Engineers which constructs and maintains the impoundments, became aware of the recreational importance of their creations, it became wholly involved. For several years the government participated in 100 per cent financing of recreational facilities and areas in and around impoundments. Within recent years federal participation has been only on a 50 per cent basis with state and local agencies providing one half. But this applies only to new projects and not those now in existence.

The original benefits of these projects are intangible to the average outdoor lover, but there is no denying what he thinks of a day of boating or fishing, a weekend of camping or permanent residency on one of the man-made lakes.

House to Give Public Voice In Crime Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the new House committee on crime says the panel is going to look for solutions from the one source he feels has not been tapped—the ordinary citizen.

"Everybody else except the people involved have been heard by crime commissions," said Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla. "I want us to go to a number of big cities and hear from ordinary citizens on what can be done about crime."

"The one thing we can do that hasn't been done before is go to the people," he said in an interview. "Perhaps they have suggestions the experts have missed."

The House, in authorizing the committee Thursday, gave it sweeping authority to look into the causes of crime and what can be done to combat it. The panel, however, has no power to initiate legislation.

What will the committee accomplish?

"I don't know whether we can do anything," Pepper answered. "But I intend to try."

"We'll deal with everything from illegal drug traffic to organized crime and juvenile delinquency to homicide," Pepper said. "This will include student episodes when they involve crimes like trespass, assault and weapons."

Pepper said the House created the committee because of rising public criticism and concern. It is time, he indicated, for the government to let the people know what is being done and what they can do to help.

Lady Educator Has Remedy for Rebel Students

NEW YORK AP) — If you don't have to pay the piper, the dancing may get wild.

That, briefly, is the condition now convulsing the campuses, in the view of a noted Catholic educator, Jacqueline Grennan.

She suggests a radical remedy: Give students complete responsibility, both for their conduct and also the costs.

"Radical freedom is much harder than partial freedom," she said in an interview. "As long as we've gone this far, we have to go all the way, and put buying power in their hands."

Today's collegians insist that they're entitled to a major role in running the educational machinery, she notes, but under present arrangements, they don't have to bear the costs of what they do. The oldsters foot the bills.

She sees this as an artificial, unbalanced situation that produces irrational behavior. The circumstances also tend to forestall the application of St. Paul's ancient injunction: "Whatever a man sows, that will he also reap."

To bring some chastening realism into the present distorted picture, in which students want to make their own decisions but aren't accountable for the results, she proposes that they be given responsibility for both.

That would make for a more normally proportioned situation, she says, in which students not only "must decide what to do, but in which they must live with the consequences of what they do."

Miss Grennan, an eminently straightforward, vivacious and attractive Christian thinker, created a sensation in Catholic educational reform in1967 and did so with a grace that won official Church sanction.

She gained a dispensation from her vows as a nun of the Sisters of Loretto to transform Webster College, of which she is president, from a Church institution to a secular one, under lay control.

Malpractice Suits Boost Medical Costs

By Charles G. Mc Daniel
AP Science Writer

Malpractice suits filed by patients against doctors are contributing to the increased cost of medical care in the United States.

Rates on malpractice insurance for doctors have soared across the country and the increased costs are borne, at least in part, by the patient.

Statistics show that one doctor out of every six of the 300,000 in the United States has been, or is being, sued for malpractice. Last year, doctors paid $75 million in malpractice insurance premiums.

Some $18 million was paid in awards to patients in 1968, according to Bernard D.Hirsh, general counsel of the American Medical Association. Legal fees added to the costs.

William F. Martin, a New York lawyer, said in a paper recently before the National Medicolegal Symposium in Las Vegas: "Spokesman both for the medical profession and the insurance industry agree that the higher rates are caused by the increased number of malpractice suits being filed by disgruntled patients and the larger settlements being made both in and out of court."

The Insurance Information Institute in New York says premiums on malpractice insurance are up 47 per cent over a year ago.

The institute, in a recent announcement of rate revisions, stated that from 1959 through 1963, insurance companies paid $140 for every $100 received in premiums from physicians. For surgeons it was $151 for every $100.

Recent revisions upped malpractice rates in 27 states, while reducing them in two.

The increases ranged from 10 per cent in four states to 75 per cent in Montana and Ohio and 100 per cent in Vermont. Rates in six states went up 50 to 60 per cent.

Rates were reduced 10 per cent in New Hampshire and 15 per cent in Oregon.

Rates for hospitals maintaining liability insurance likewise are rising.

There are other patient costs, too, engendered by extra-cautious—and perhaps unnecessary —tests, a committee of the AMA trustees reported.

There are no recent statistics to show whether there has been an increase in malpractice suits filed, but many doctors, lawyers and insurance men say there has been.

Martin cited these cases as examples of the trend toward higher awards:

A woman in Florida received a $1.5 million verdict in an anesthesia mishap; $1.4 million to a California man similarly injured, and $1.25 million to a New Mexico boy whose scalp was severely burned in treatment for ringworm.

Some physicians pay $12,000 to $15,000 a year for maximum coverage, an AMA official said.

Minimum coverage might cost $400 to $600 for protection against claims of up to $5,000. Many hospitals insist that doctors with staff privileges carry at least $100,000 in insurance, and often more.

Speeches and articles by doctors and lawyers and files of the American Medical Association list a number of reasons for the filing of malpractice suits.

Among the most prominently mentioned are:

—With the number of doctors failing to increase as rapidly as the population, doctors are busier and the doctor-patient relationship is less personal than that of the sentimentally recalled family doctor.

—Lawyers pressing malpractice claims are paid a contingent fee; that is, their fee depends on whether they win the case, and then it is a percentage of the award to the plaintiff. This is said to encourage vigorous trial of a claim and pressing juries for big awards.

—Courts are more liberal in the type of evidence permitted in malpractice suits. In the past, it has been difficult to get a doctor to testify against one of his colleagues, but now textbooks and outside experts are permitted in court.

—Publicity given malpractice suits, whether the suits are successful or not, encourages others to file suits.

—The public has been oversold on the value of modern drugs and modern surgical techniques, so more is expected from doctors and hospitals than sometimes can be delivered.

Richard P. Bergen, director of the AMA's department of legal research, said the trend to higher awards to successful plaintiffs results from the fact that the public is aware that doctors have the highest average income of any professional group so juries decide "for the working stiff."

College Opens Own Museum

WARRENSBURG, Mo. AP) — Central Missouri State College opened its own museum Thursday featuring general history, anthropology and natural history. The museum in Clark Hall south of the College Union will be under direction of Dr. Pete Nichols, an assistant professor of social science at Central Missouri.

The museum's first exhibit has been in preparation for over a year and is centered around World War I. Over 80 World War I posters have been collected and are on display along with other items.

Ozark Summer Event Calendars Offered

Maverick's hot! Any questions?

Measure it any way you like. By the crowds. The news stories. The sales. Few cars have caused a sensation like Maverick or broken so many records. Every day more and more people are asking questions about it. Here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?
A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?
A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?
A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?
A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?
A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?
A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?
A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?
A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?
A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?
A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?
A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick!). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?
A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?
A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?
A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

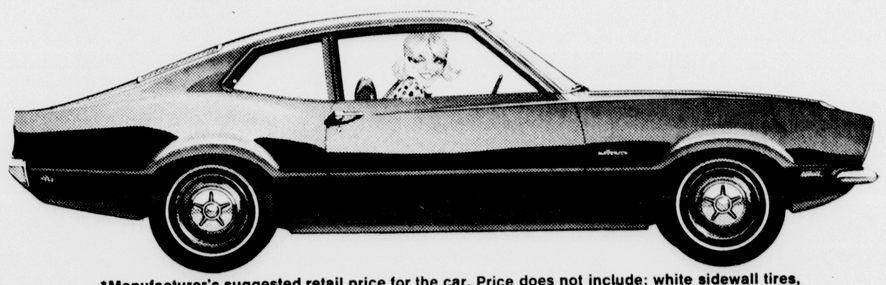

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?
A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's . . . the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department NO. N-50, Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

Students Try Out For Concert Choirs

CHIRSTY CREWS, ANITA POOLE, GORDON BEAVER, and PHYLLIS LAIR pause for the photographer they conduct concert choir tryouts.

Sikeston high school students desiring to be members of the concert choirs for next year began tryouts Wednesday afternoon after school.

Gordon Beaver, vocal instructor, directed the individual tryouts for all interested students.

Students enrolled in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes are eligible.

Two choirs are scheduled for sixth and seventh hours, and he groups combine many times for programs ad concerts.

Various vacancies exist in the musical groups since many of the members will be in the graduating class.

Choirs presented two spring concerts this year, and they will perform in the musical review for all the various students enrolled in any music class later this spring.

Boys are especially invited by Mr. Beaver to try out for the groups.

Mr. Beaver further stated that if any student has a special committment after school that he would make special arrangements for him to try out at a different date.

Choirs this year number approximately 180 students.

Sing-Out Sikeston Gives Full Show

"Sing-Out Sikeston" gave its first full performance Saturday night in the middle school auditorium.

Group performed before a packed house that found 100 members standing in the rear.

The 24 musical selections presented in one hour and 45 minutes drew excellent responses from the audience.

Group received four standing ovations and before the closing of the program, director Mrs. Carole Clayton, and ensemble co-ordinator Bob Williamson were given a hearty ovation.

Program began and ended with the group's theme song "Up With People".

Among the songs presented were "New York City" done by Linda Bird; "Ashes" by Barbara Armour; "Who Cares?" done by Dan Hazel; "Paul Revere" sung by Bill Sappenfield and Joe Parmenter; "Children" sung by Tommy Jobe; and "Hometown" sung by Barbara Armour and Linda Bird.

"Sing-Out Sikeston" was formed approximately seven months ago and began with about 30 members in the cast. Cast has since grown to about 140 members.

Before completion of the program, the cast presented Mrs. Clayton and Mr. Williamson with a gift of appreciation. Patty Bush and Stan McGill made the presentation and explained to the audience that the entire cast wished to express their appreciation and gratitude to Mrs. Clayton and Mr. Williamson.

"Others to be commended for their participation in the organization are the instrumentalists Chuck Hanna, Alex Waters, Steve Waters, Geoff Comer, Kay Stauffer, and Sandy Greene," said Mr. Williamson.

Sponsors for "Sing-Out Sikeston" are the Optimist Club and Sikeston's Council on the Arts.

Money from this performance and other donations will be used to pay for the badly needed sound equipment and lights that the group recently purchased.

Students Spivey, Warren, Bush, Bird Are Features

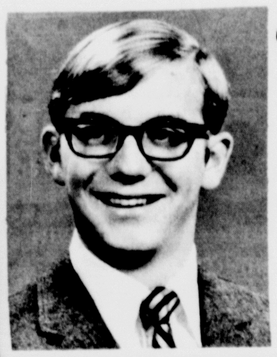

Bulldog Barker has only a few more editions to print until the end of the school year. In an effort to recognize as many students as possible, four students will be featured each week.

Senior Karen Spivey is a member of National Honor Society and Red Peppers. Her outstanding work as exchange editor of the Barker and feature editor of the Growler have earned her membership in Quill and Scroll, a national honor organization for student journalists.

Karen received a letter of commendation from the board of curators of the University of Missouri earlier this year.

Karen plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College and major in business or elementary education.

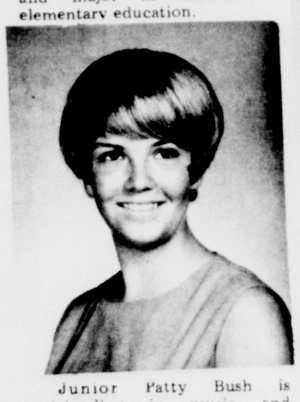

Senior David Bird is well known for his outstanding musical ability. Dave is a member of concert choir VI and moderne chorale.

Dave is a member of the "Ramblers," a folk group popular in a large area. He has written a number of songs for the group and has done numerous arrangements of popular songs.

"Ramblers" will perform each Saturday night this summer at the Ken-Lake Hotel in Kentucky.

Dave's outstanding photography for the Barker and the Growler has earned him membership in Quill and Scroll.

Dave will enter the University of Mississippi this fall in the school of business and government. He is planning to major in political science.

Junior Patty Bush is outstanding in music and dancing fields. As a member of Little Theatre, Patty has worked with three musicals.

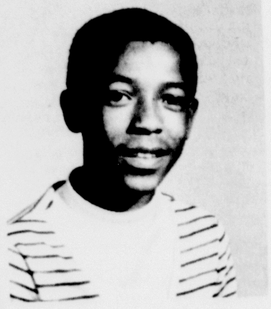

In "South Pacific," she was a member of the singing and dancing chorus. In "The King and I," she played Eliza. "Oklahoma" chorus was under the supervision of Patty's choreography.

Patty was the lead dancer in the dream sequence ballet in "Oklahoma." She is currently acting as choreographer of "Showboat." Sing-Out also utilizes Patty's talent as a choreographer.

Patty was one of the main organizers of Sing-Out Sikeston and serves on the Action Council. She often performs solos with the group.

Patty is a member of National Honor Society, Drama club, French club, concert and marching bands, and is accompanist for concert choir VII.

Patty is also a member of Red Peppers, and she teaches dancing as well as taking piano lessons.

Freshman Freddie Warren shows a great promise in the New Forensic League. He has won a number of best speaker awards in congresses throughout the area.

Concerning his forensic experiences, Freddie said, "Debates and congresses this year have shown me how much fun it can be to think and speak logically. I've really enjoyed it and I plan to participate in it each year."

Freddie is also a member of Sing-Out, Boy Scouts, and he participated in wrestling this year. He is currently working with Little Theatre on he production "Showboat."

"Do you have any four-volt two-watt bulbs?"

"For what?"

"No, two."

"Two what?"

"Yes."

"No."

FBLA Students Go To Memphis

Twenty-one Future Business Leaders of America members made a field trip to Memphis recently.

Students, accompanied by instructors Mrs. Tim Garner and Gerald Jackson, toured the Delta Airlines Reservation offices for the first stop.

Employees explained the IBM equipment and the telegramming hook ups.

Federal Aviation Agency Tower was the second stop. This area is restricted and each student had to wear a badge to tour the area.

This agency controls air travel from above Cape Girardeau to parts of the state of Alabama.

Each employee had an individual radar screen, and students watched the radar as it forecasted storms and air travel conditions.

Memphis Municipal Airport was the last stop for the group to make a tour.

After leaving the airport, they made a trip by Elvis Presley's home and shopped lat the Southland Mall before returning home.

OpenHouse; PopConcert Date Set For May 15

Sikeston high school will sponsor its annual open house Friday, May 16, at 6:30 p.m.

Students and teachers are busily preparing various displays to be posted on the night of open house.

Students in English will display outstanding poems, notebooks, and themes done in the various classes during the year.

Journalism class will display such items as this year's Bulldog Barker, work done on the yearbook, and pictures of the year's activities.

Visitors to the math and science building will view posters and displays of projects done by the students.

Annual open house is designed chiefly for the public's enjoyment and to give parents an opportunity to see the quality of education their children are receiving.

Immediately following open house, late division band, directed by Keith Collins, will present its annual pop concert on the band shell. Numbers of this program are of a lighter and more familiar vein.

Stallings, Struwe Are Sikeston's Speech Delegates

Senior Forensic League members Mike Struwe and Dave Stallings are currently attending the state speech contest at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Mike Struwe is competing in the public speaking cate Students in this category must present a six-to-eight minute address on a problem of international significance.

Dave Stallings is participating in radio speaking. Students in this division are actually competing in a double event.

Using a closed circuit broadcast system, students first read a previously prepared news broadcast. Students are then given a short time to prepare another newscast, using materials provided them.

State ratings differ from district ratings in that district ratings are comprised of the average of the ratings for two rounds, whereas state ratings are based on one round only.

Dave and Mike were chosen to attend the state contest at the district contest held in mid-April in Cape Girardeau.

Other Sikeston students who participated in the district contests are Rod Taylor, Leslie Johnson, Lee Crites, Don Littleton, Randy Reynolds, and Chris Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe are accompaning the two contestants to Columbia.

Robert Walker is director of speech.

Presentation of awards will be by Robert Mitchell, president of the board of education.

Music will be provided by the high school orchestra, directed by Richard Powell.

Juniors to be recognized are at Beck, Lee Bowman, Kathy Britt, Patty Bush, John Chittenden, Debbie Collins, Julie Crader.

Srs. Will Pay Rental Payment

Seniors may pay the rental fee of $4 for caps and gowns beginning Monday morning.

Gowns will arrive about a week before graduation exercises. Students must present a receipt of payment before receiving their outfits.

Gowns will be the traditional navy blue. Girls' robes will have white collars and boys are requested to wear white shirts and black ties.

Tassels with a gold "69" charm will be kept by seniors as memories of the graduation ceremony.

Caps and gowns will be worn for baccalaureate Sunday, May 25, and for commencement Thursday, May 29.

Robes must be returned to the boxes in which they arrived immediately following commencement exercises.

Placement Test Scheduled; Last Date Tomorrow

Seniors who have not taken the Missouri College Placement Test will have an opportunity to do so tomorrow. This will be the last opportunity to take the test at Cape State.

Thirty colleges in Missouri including the University of Missouri, Lincoln University, and all state colleges require entering freshmen to take the test.

Test is given in the north hall of the science building, room 200 at Southeast Missouri jState College in Cape.

Test begins at 8:30 and students must be in their seats by that time.

Students who cannot take the test on this date may take it on July 12 at Three Rivers Junior College, 507 Vine Street in Poplar Bluff. This will be the last date the test will be given in this area.

SPECS for the future? It may be if an Australian designer is correct in predicting what the well-dressed outdoor girl will be using for sunglasses around the year 2000. The visor modeled by Ruth Ellis of Melbourne not only covers the full face but has such built-in accessories as antennas and two-way radio communication sets.

Escaping from Poverty

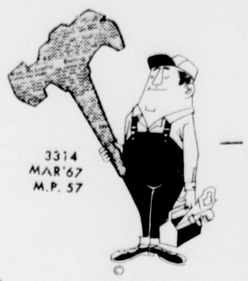

Dr. Kershner

I HAVE just read a newspaper account of welfare mothers staging a demonstration before the Department of Welfare in a Pennsylvania city. They were demanding extra relief money for their children. They claimed to represent the Welfare Rights Organization and they sang "We shall overcome." What do they expect to overcome? The resistance of taxpayers to further despoliation? Do they never think of their own responsibility for bringing children into the world whom they cannot support? Do they ever think how other parents feel who have restricted their own families and are then forced to contribute to the maintenance of children whose parents have not shown that degree of judgment and restraint?

It is the Christian duty of those who have to share with those who are in need. It is also the duty of the latter to work hard and to manage their affairs in a way that will minimize their needs and tend to make them self-supporting insofar as possible. Will a society be permanent that seizes wealth anywhere it can be found in order to give to us less provident, less intelligent, less thrifty and less self-reliant members? If we finally concede that government has the right to seize the property of some and give it to others, is there any hope that this process will be stopped until we are all brought down to the poverty level? Would that help the poor? On the other hand, it would greatly increase their suffering.

The countires that have the most well-to-do people also have the least amount of poverty. When some escape from poverty it shows that others may do it also. The more wealth a country has the more it produces. It matters not that the wealth is privately owned for it is more productive by reason of that fact than it would be if it were government-owned. It is not who owns wealth that counts, but how productively it is used for the creation of the things people want and need.

If You Were the Judge

Bothered Man Collects Damages from Nuisance

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Herman developed a keen dislike for his ex-business partner George and didn't mind letting George know. If he met George on the street, he'd grimace and leer. On other occasions, regardless where they met, he'd walk up to George and laugh until Herman began following him both on foot and on wheels. If Herman spotted George on the street, he'd begin walking right behind him. If he happened to spy George on the highway, he'd tailgate him for blocks or miles.

Finally, Herman got to poor old George. The latter became a nervous wreck and he sued Herman for damages.

"While it takes a tree fives years to produce a nut," George complained in court, "Herman's made me nutty in just five weeks."

"I didn't do anything to him for which he can sue me," was Herman's answer. "I haven't laid a finger on him and certainly a man can't collect damages because he doesn't like the way someone looks at him. In this society, you've got to make allowances for all kinds of people."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Herman pay for upsetting poor old George?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that if a man finds himself perpetually haunted by an enemy; if he is greeted at every turn by baleful looks, sudden sorties which fall short of physical contract, derisive laughter; if he cannot drive his car without the iminent threat of collision from the rear, there cannot be any doubt that he is being subjected to extreme and outrageous conduct for which damages can be recovered if all is proven.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Make the best use of your time, despite all the difficulties of these days. Ephesians 5:16, Phillips)

PRAYER: Holy Father, help us to make the best of opportunities life offers us. May we not waste the abundant riches that Thou art daily bestowing upon us. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

If you have the shank end of a leg of lamb boned and split you can broil the meat. Place fat side up on the broiler rack about five inches from the heat source and broil about 20 minutes; brush with a marinade and turn and broil 15 minutes. Then turn the broiler setting low, or move the broiler rack low, and broil another half hour or until meat is tender, basting with the marinade.

Mineral Area Junior College Gutted by Fire

FLAT RIVER, Mo. (AP) — Firemen managed to save student and financial records before fire gutted Mineral Area College's only classroom building early Friday, authorities said.

Dr. Richard Caster, president of the junior college, put the loss at $190,000 to the one-story building and $360,000 to the contents. The campus is located immediately outside the Flat River city limits.

Caster said persons apparently saw the fire about midnight but didn't know what it was. The alarm was turned in about 2 a.m. Firemen from Flat River, Bonne Terre, Farmington and other nearby towns responded but were not able to save the building.

File cabinets containing the school's records were removed before the flames reached them, Caster said.

Medicaid Ends In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. AP) — New Mexico's medicaid program ended Thursday because the $17 million appropriated for the fiscal year ran out in the first 10 months.

Effects of the end of the federally supported medical assistance program for the poor were immediate as some of the 1,115 elderly receiving nursing home care under the program were taken home by relatives who could not afford to pay costs at the homes.

State officials said about half of the 1,115 patients would qualify for general public assistance payments of $84.70 monthly, which could be used for sheltered care payments.

The monthly cost of the program ran about 30 per cent above budgeted amounts for most of the fiscal year that began July 1. Officials said per-patient payments were higher than expected.

Ex-German Chancellor Dies at 89

OBERSASBACH, Germany (AP) - Former Chancellor Franz von Pepen, who helped pave Hitler's way to power and later won acquittal at the Nuernberg war crimes trials, died today, his son reported. He was 89 years old.

Von Papen became seriously ill early in April. His son said the illness was aggravated by his advanced age. He died at his secluded home in this Baden village.

Von Papen, regarded as something of a lightweight in the German politics of the early 1930s, was as responsible as any one man for bringing Adolf Hitler to power, though that probably was not what he meant to do.

In a chaotic political situation in June 1932, President Paul von Hindenburg appointed Von Papen chancellor. But he resigned that fall after elections showed Hitler's Nazi had made great gains, though still not enough for a Reichstag majority.

The Nazis were nearly bankrupt then, and Von Papen arranged a meeting of Hitler and Baron Kurt von Schroeder, a Cologne banker, apparently with the idea of putting Hitler and the Nazis in his debt. He persuaded Schroeder and his colleagues that the nation's best hope was a coalition government of Nazis and nationalist rightists. In a short time a fund of four million marks was raised for Hitler's party.

Von Papen then went to his old friend, President Hindenburg and convinced him that he should summon Hitler to be chancellor and make Von Papen his deputy. Hitler and two others were the only Nazis in the government formed Jan. 30, 1933, and Von Papen said it was deliberately fashioned that way to keep Hitler in check.

But Von Papen, the record shows, sat in Cabinet meetings at which the Nazis gradually substituted the concentration camp for the rule of law.

Missouri Files Petition Seeking Remap Rehearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri filed a petition in U.S. Supreme Court today asking that the court reconsider its April 7 rejection of the state's congressional redistricting.

The petition asks that as an alternative the court let the 1967 redistricting law stand until the districts must be realigned in 1971.

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth is asking for the rehearing in the 17-page petition.

The petition said the April 7 decision "not only places in jeopardy the apportionments in most of the states, but also any future attempts that the state of Missouri or other states might make."

It asked that other states be allowed to appear as friends of the court to discuss that point.

Danforth said no legislature or commission could produce a collective redistricting that would satisfy the court decision, and the only alternative would be to have the courts set up the districts, "highly undesirable in a state such as Missouri. . ."

The petition said that under the court'swtrict order based solely on equal population between districts one man could perhaps draw districts that would meet the requirements, but two men with different ideas could not.

"We suggest," the petition illustrated, "that a black legislator is acting with entire propriety in trying to establish a congressional district in which a person of his race can probably secure election, and that minority Republican legislators are acting properly in striving for as many districts as possible in which their party's candidates have a chance.

"There is complete good faith in each instance.

"Under the court's opinion, however, legislators are inhibited in the pursuit of their particular and legitimate goals through the necessity of striving for mathematic equality at all costs."

Besides, the petition said, districts drawn to meet the court's requirement would be undesirable for representative government. It argued that people of a particular geographical area, with similar economic and political ties, should be tied together.

House Amends Uniform Organ Transplant Bill

JEFFERSON CITY AP) — The House Thursday amended and sent back to the Senate a uniform anatomical act bill - to spell out the legal procedures for human organ transplants.

Some 30 states now are working to enact similar laws, sponsors said.

The House added an amendment to tighten controls over the timing of death of a donor. It specifies that the physician certifying death cannot be one of those participating in any transplant operation.

Also sent back to the Senate was a bill establishing the Inter-agency Council for Outdoor Recreation as the state's agent in agreements with the federal government for use of reservoir facilities.

The bill is similar to one that was passed by the Senate two years ago but died on the House calendar.

Sent to the governor was a bill providing the procedure to be followed in dissolving a public hospital district.

Another sent to the governor would let chiropodists and podiatrists use narcotic drugs in treating patients.

The House defeated a bill, 48-80, that would require employers to pay workers every 14 days instead of monthly or twice a month.

Opponents said it would be too expensive for large companies using computer payroll systems to change over and would create an unfavorable business climate in the state.

there," Christa remarked.

After returning to Germany Alfred first worked for an electric company, then was glad to get a job with an American-owned company. He has attended two meetings in the states and published an article on photos tubes in an English magazine.

This trip, Christa's first to the states, they have seen New York City, visited friends in New Jersey, and stayed at Niagara Falls.

"We were married during the war and couldn't take a trip, so now, after 25 years of marriage, we're having a honeymoon." Alfred explained with a smile.

Before arriving in Sikeston, the Kittels met Mrs. Electra Shankle Goldwassen in the St. Louis airport for dinner. Mrs. Goldwassen, presently living in Kansas City, brought some of Mrs. Kittels first letters, for her to read.

Leaving Sikeston today, they hope to spend a day in Memphis before going on to friends in Houston, then New Orleans and Fort Lauderdale.

Christa has a special impression of the states. "It's like Gulliver's Travels. You are the giants and we are the little people."

Alfred, a realist, explained his impressions this way: "You are more openminded and friendlier, you have more feelings for others.

"That's why we planned the reception," Mrs. Shankle said. "Everyone wanted to meet you."

Woman Freed After Forced 120-Mile Ride

NEWBURG, Mo. (AP) - Three AWOL soldiers from nearby Ft. Leonard Wood forced a 21-year old woman to drive them about 120 miles to East St. Louis, Ill., then released her unharmed Thursday, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

The woman, Judy Carr, drove back to her Newburg home, with help from the patrol, which lent a hand after her car broke down between Sullivan and Bourbon.

Sgt. Tom Pasley of the patrol said Mrs. Carr, a widow, and her sister, Mrs. Pauline Heider, gave this account of the incident:

At noon the three soldiers entered the home and demanded food and clothing of Mrs. Heider, who was alone at the time. Then Mrs. Carr returned home in her car with Laura Heider, 6, and Lisa Carr, 3.

Mrs. Heider managed to get a shotgun in a bedroom, but one soldier pulled out a pistol and said he would shoot one of the children if she didn't put the shotgun down. She complied.

The men forced Mrs. Carr to take them away in her car, telling Mrs. Heider they would shoot Mrs. Carr if police were notified before they got out of the state.

During the ride to East St. Louis, Mrs. Carr saw her fiance, Bill Nangle, a highway department employe, working on the highway east of Rolla, but was unable to signal him.

In East St. Louis, the men got out of the automobile, and Mrs. Carr telephoned her sister about 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Heider then called the patrol.

After the automobile broke down, Mrs. Carr called her sister again, and Mrs. Heider notified the patrol. An officer was sent to help her.

33 Aircraft Lost in Week

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 23 helicopters and 10 fixed - wing planes were lost in the Vietnam war during the past week. It was one of the more expensive weeks for America's aerial forces.

Most of the helicopters were shot down, and the others were lost in collisions or enemy attacks on U.S. bases, headquarters said.

At least two of the planes were fighter - bombers reported shot down earlier. The command gave no details about the other losses.

The report said a total of 2,585 U.S. helicopters and 2,681 planes now have been lost in the war.

A U.S. spokesman also announced that 38,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed since the Viet Cong spring offensive started Feb. 23, and American and South Vietnamese forces since the first of the year have captured:

-2,500 rockets and 110,000 mortar rounds, "more than the enemy has fired countrywide in the same period."

-2,500 tons of rice, enough to feed 50 battalions of 500 men each for four months.

-20,000 individual weapons and 3,000 crew-served weapons.

Although the U.S. Command did not say the enemy offensive was over, the spokesman said the heavy losses had forced the enemy to reduce his offensive operations.

"We estimate that the enemy's activities have decreased because he did not have any other choice," the spokesman said. "The primary reason for this, as you may have noted in the weekly statistical summaries, is that the enemy has suffered about 38,000 killed since Feb. 23.

"These are serious losses which exceed his losses during the same time frame following initiation of his offensives in both May and August of 1968...

Roughly one-third of the total American and enemy casualties in eight years and four months of fighting in Vietnam have occurred in the year since the United States and North Vietnam agreed to talk peace.

Saturday is the first anniversary of President Lyndon B. Johnson's announcement that Washington and Hanoi had agreed to send negotiators to Paris. Ten days later, on May 13, 1968, preliminary peace talks opened.

In the 52 weeks of fighting from April 27, 1968 through last Satuday, April 26, a total of 12,440 Americans and 153,779 of the enemy were killed in action and 79,793 U.S. troops were wounded, according to U.S. Command figures. South Vietnamese headquarters reports 14,367 of its troops killed and 52,526 wounded in that year.

The U.S. Command says that since the United States entered the war in force on Jan. 1, 1961, a total of 34,446 Americans and 488,231 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have died in battle and another 221,012 Americans have been wounded.

U.S. military sources say the sharp reduction in American combat dead last week - to 163, the lowest total since Jan. 11- indicates the Viet Cong's spring offensive has fizzled out.

The offensive began Feb. 23, and senior U.S. staff officers feel it began etering out a week ago, when the number of enemy rocket and mortar attacks considered significant dropped off to a low of 13. Since then there have been less than a dozen of these attacks a night, including only five reported Thursday night.

U.S. sources say North Vietnamese and Viet Cong units have fallen back to border areas to receive replacements for about 38,000 troops killed in their offensive.

"If they follow the same pattern," said one source, "They'll resypply, replace their losses, recuperate and I suppose prepare for another offensive."

White House Called to Explain Inaction on Hunger

WASHINGTON (AP) — To Nixon administration officials have been asked by a special Senate committee to explain an alleged White House decision against an immediate broad attacks on hunger in the nation.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., chairman of the hunger committee, said Thursday invitations to appear before the panel next week went to Clifford M. Hardin, secretary of agriculture; Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, and Budget Director Robert P. Mayo.

Announcement of the action came shortly after the committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, urged the GOP administration to increase the fight against hunger this year.

The New York senator cited "authoritative reports that the administration does not propose to increase materially the federal food assistance program to the nation's poor beyond the present level of slightly more than $1.5 billion.

"This is a deeply disturbing development if indeed such a decision has been made by the White House," Javits added.

The White House has not officially announced whether such a step has been taken.

The senator has been making behind-the-scene efforts to convince the administration of the need for a vigorous hunger program. An aide indicated Javits decided to speak out publicly only after being advised on the highest possible levels that such a program could not be undertaken at this time.

Javits, referring to reports that some administration officials are not convinced hunger is a critical problem, said:

'I would hope that they will go out into the field, as I've done, to see the widespread, appalling conditions of hunger that demand much mor comprehensive measures involving much greater expenditures than they now seem to have in mind."

Javits supported proposals by McGovern to give free food stamps to families with monthly incomes of less than $80. He called this proposal "an indication of the direction of the thinking of the majority on the committee.

"However, I believe that the bill—by dealing almost exclusively with food stamps—does not go far enough in combating the conditions of hunger and malnutrition which plague our nation," Javits said.

He said Republican members of the committee plan to recommend legislation that would provide for involvement of private companies in developing and distributing fortified and enriched foods.

City Judge Fines Nine

Robert E. Washington, 209 Young Street, was fined $106 and costs last night in City Court for carrying a concealed weapon. Judge James Sickal also imposed a 30-day jail sentence, but suspended it pending good behavior for one year.

Jerry Dean Robertson, 521 South Kingshighway, and Charles Harlen, Dexter, were each fined $31 for peace disturbance.

Charles E. Campbell, Dexter, was fined $56 for driving while intoxicated.

Leo Dunnigan, 105 Westgate, and Timmy J. Garner, 911 Lake, were fined $15 each for careless and imprudent driving. Thomas St. Cin, 409 Prosperity, was fined $17 on the same charge and $11 for having an inadequate exhaust system.

Mattie L. Jones, 227 Fuch, was fined $15 for careless and imprudent driving.

Price Baker, Canalou, was fined $15 for interferring with fire fighters.

Sikeston, European Pen Pals Meet Here After 36 Years

By BARBARA LACY

A silver anniversary honeymoon has brought the Alfred Kittels of Wilhelmshaven, Germany, to Sikeston, to meet Christa's pen pal of 36 years.

It was in 1933 that Electra Shankle formerly of Sikeston now of Kansas City received a name and address from the Methodist youth group for a pen pal. The boy, in Czechoslovakia already had several pen pals so he passed the letter to a friend.

The friend was Christa. The correspondance that started between two teenagers was stopped briefly by the war, then continued through marriages and children.

The only change was that Mrs. Edna Shankle, 506 East Center St., Electra's mother, began writing after the war, when Electra was in Seoul, Korea, and from then on, continued the American side of the correspondence.

After the war, too, the letters from America were more often boxes containing much needed goods for the Kittel family, who- with their two boys - were living in Yugoslavia.

At one time arrangements were made for the Kittels to come to America by friends of Mrs. Shankle; in particular, the late J. Otto Hahs of Sikeston. But an American visa was hard to get, and in the meantime the Kittels were able to get a German visa. Thus the Kittels moved to Germany.

Friends of Mrs Shankle and Electra Shankle Goldwasser who have heard of the Kittels for many years met at a Tuesday night reception at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

They found the Kittels delightfully pro-American. Alfred, a physicist and presently technical manager for a pipeline company partly owned by Esso Oil Co., finds no fault with the United States. "You're a very young nation who is always progressing. You're not afraid to take risks. In Europe there are too many laws. There is no room for expansion.

"Germany is a bit Americanized, yes," Alfred continued. "But it is good for us. Let's let Germany become a 52nd state of the United States. It isn't a question of political power, but of economic power."

"I don't know anyone who wouldn't like life in America," Christa added.

For one member of their family, life in America may soon be possible. The Kittels oldest son Klaus, now a student at the Free University of Berlin, hopes to spend at least a semester studying journalism at an American university.

Alfred noted that students are rioting in Berlin and that he had noted the same initials in news about American college riots, SDS or Students for a Democratic Society. "It's the same organization," he said.

Peter, their other son, who is now finishing high school, hopes to be a physicist.

A big man who looks like he likes to eat, Alfred is enthusiastic about the food in the states, especially the "broiled steaks and wonderful salads."

"Oh, yes, we have the same foods in America, but the portions are very thin and small. Food is by far more expensive," Christa added.

But as far as physical goods are concerned, "there is nothing that you can not get in Germany. And everything is very good quality. Much of our goods are imported, just like yours.

In general, life is more expensive in Germany, the Kittels feel. Particular items that are high are gas, electricity and cigarettes.

Another difference the Kittels noted was in television.

In Germany the television stations are owned by the post office. It is not free, one must pay so much per month for each television set in the house. Programs for the general public run from 5 to 11 p.m. The rest of the day is devoted to special programing, such as to schools.

The Kittels speak excellent English. For Alfred, it is one of six languages he is fluent in. Christa learned English from a Catholic priest in exchange for playing the church organ.

"That was when Electra first wrote. The priest had to write the first letters for me, I couldn't have done it."

Later, Christa received a license to teach English and English literature.

But, feeling that they needed to keep in touch with the English language they have subscribed to the National Geographic Society for many years.

"Just as my father did," Christa said, "he was a member for over 30 years."

America has always played a big part in the Kittels life. They became acquainted with Americans who came to their home town, noted for its glass factories, to export the glass products.

After the war, when the Kittels had to leave their home and live in Yugoslavia they looked forward to the packages from Mrs. Shankle which contained cocoa, bubble gum, coffee, as well as such necessities as clothes for the boys. All which they found almost impossible to get in Yugoslavia.

"We didn't have fruit for 5 years, the entire time we lived

Danforth Announces Intentions Of Halting Chain-Store Games

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth said today he considers the games conducted by many foodstores, oil companies and other big commercial firms are illegal lotteries and he intends to stop them in Missouri.

He said he planned to move against any companies still conducting such games after June 1.

"We are allowing this time period," he said, "For game users who may have acted upon advice that their activities were not in violation of the lottery laws as previously interpreted in Missouri."

He has concluded "the fact that these games being an ascertainable number of customers to the game sponsor's place of business is a consideration equivalent to money as far as the game sponsor is concerned.

"In addition, the act of the prospective participant in going to a retail outlet to participate in the game of chance is consideration sufficient to support a simple contract. The time and effort expended traveling to the retail store may be measured as an expense in terms of money to the prospective participant."

Previous legal opinions by Missouri attorneys general have held those considerations were not equivalent to money. Danforth, a Republican, said the change in policy will mean a number of previous legal opinions will have to be withdrawn by his office.

He said he had not yet decided whether to file civil or criminal actions against the companies who continue such operations beyond June 1.

Meanwhile, his staff will continue its investigations and stockpile evidence. If he files civil suits, he said, he will demand the companies show cause why their Missouri charters should not be cancelled, barring them from further business in this state.

He was not sure whether he could instigate felony suits without a request from the governor but he felt sure Gov. Warren E. Hearnes would make that request if the investigation showed the state had a good chance of winning.

He said any county prosecuting attorney could file suit against companies operating the games if he wanted to provide a test case in Missouri. He said he felt sure many of the store managers and filling station operators would welcome a court decision the games are illegal.

"It all costs them money," he said.

Farmers Mailed Ballots on Cotton Allotments Transfer

BENTON - Shirley McArthur, chairman of the Scott county ASCS committee, announces that ballots are being mailed to all known cotton producers in the county to determine if the transfer of cotton allotments across county lines will be permitted for the 1970 crop year. The voting period will be from May 5 through May 9.

The vote will decide only the question of whether a farmer in Scott county can sell or lease his cotton allotment to someone who would use it in another county. Transfer of allotments between farms within the same county is already provided for by law. A "yes" vote by at least two-thirds of the farmers voting would permit such transfer.

Farmers are cautioned to follow all instructions in marking their ballots. The certification on the back of the envelope sent to producers must be signed before returning the ballot to the county office. Ballots are kept secret, although the counting of the ballots by the county committee may be witnessed by the public.

Scott County producers are also reminded that farmers who signed in the 1969 wheat program must report their wheat acreage at the county office before May 15. To date, only about one-half of the farmers have filed their reports. Reports of acreages for feed grain, cotton and diverted acres will be accepted up to July 15.

Malden to Remove Meters

MALDEN - Malden shoppers and visitors no longer have to plug the parking meters in downtown Malden, it was decided this week at the Malden City Council meeting.

By a vote of 5-3, council members agreed to the removal of existing parking meters on a trial basis. However, they agreed that if it doesn't prove satisfactory the meters will be reinstalled.

Councilman Bob McCurter pointed out the meters have not benefited the city or the merchant and that they irritate motorists.

Other members and visitors present at the Monday night meeting objected contending that the meters prevent merchants, clerks and businessmen from taking up the parking space intended for customers.

McCurter replied that any progressive merchant would not park his own car or permit his employes to park on the streets. Mayor Sparrell Davis said the Malden merchants were being asked to cooperate with the trial, and leave the parking spaces for downtown shoppers.

Mayor to Carnival

NEW MADRID - Mayor Robert Riley of New Madrid will represent this city at the annual Mayor's Day festivities at the Memphis Cotton Carnival next Thursday, joining with some 120 mayors from Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Kentucky, Mississippi and Missouri. They will be feted at a special mayor's banquet.

Bricklayers to Resume Work

Work at the Kingsway Plaza Shopping Center has been hampered this week because of the absence of bricklayers. George Staples, Charleston, developer of the center, which is located at the corner of South Kinghighway and Murray Lane, said the bricklayers at the corner of South Kingshighway and Murray Lane, said the bricklayers have been hampered in recent weeks with the large amount or rainfall and are due to return to their jobs shortly.

Tractor Hits Fisherman

GIDEON - Luther Lacroy, 40, of Gideon, suffered a sprained wrist, lacerations and bruises when he was struck by a John Deere from tractor yesterday, while fishing from a bridge on a gravel road North of town. Missouri Highway Patrol reports show the tractor, driven by Jerry Pylan of Gideon, swerved into Lecroy as Pylan applied the brakes as he neared the bridge. Lacroy was treated and released at Crooms Hospital at Malden.

The Patrol records show two other minor collisions, both involving automobiles.

3000 Here See Snoopy, Red Baron

Some 3000 cheering fans of Snoopy and the famed "Red Baron" were on hand to welcome famed flier Jim Appleby, alias Baron Manfred von Ribbentroft, as his fabled tri-motored Fokker hit the 'tarmac' at Sikeston Municipal Airport yesterday afternoon, under the sponsorship of the Hart's Bakery Division of Interstate Bakeries of Kansas City -- which operate bakeries in all 48 mainland states.

The "Baron" and Snoopy brought to life the characters of the famed comic strip, by putting on a dog fight. They left behind a memory of a funfilled afternoon that delighted youngsters and oldsters alike.

Appleby,who described the makeup of the plane, as well as doing wingovers and intruicate turns and shenanigans to please the kiddies, is enroute Mexico where he will co-featured in an air movie.

Bill Killebrew, public director for the Hart Bakeries, praised the turnout as "one of best we've had at sites, comparable in size with Sikeston -- an increase over last year -- and it was one of the most enthusiastic crowds we have ever appeared before."

Killebrew invited all Sikeston area residents to attend a special Open House at Memphis International Airport where the Hi-Air Division of Holiday Inns are promoting a showing of an experimental aircraft exhibition, featuring antique as well as the most modern aircraft, during the annual Cotton Carnival.

More Than 150 Students To Be Honored Monday

More than 150 students comprising the top 10 per cent of their classes will be honored Monday night at the Sikeston Senior High cafetorium.

Roger Sherman, principal, said this is more students than before, but is due to an increase in students and the addition of freshmen students.

Featured speaker of the Honor's Reception, which begins at 7 p.m., will be Dr. Murell Baker, chancellor of the University of Missouri at Rolla. His topic will be "dangers to a society without direction."

David Blanton, chairman of the Sikeston Education Foundation, will be master of ceremonies. Gary Long, a senior and president of the National Honors Society, will give the invocation.

Thad Ryan, vice principal, will introduce the seniors. Robert Mitchell, president of the Sikeston School Board of Education, will present awards.

Music will be provided by the Sikeston High Orchestra under the direction of Richard Powell.

Sherman said everyone, particularly parents, are invited to attend and hear Dr. Baker speak.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We wonder if the deaths of Charles Chandler and Virgil Burks Jr. does not make a lot of Sikeston folks wake up and become interested in how lousy the presidents and State Department is allowing this war to be fought.

Now while all hearts in Sikeston are heavy we would like for every Sikestonian to get the May issue of the Readers Digest and turn to page 118 and read what Admiral U. S. Grant Sharp says in his article "We could have won in Vietnam long ago".

We can understand the disinterest shown by lots of people until it is brought home.

Our condolences to Mr. and Mrs. Max Chandler and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Burks Sr.

You might write to our Senators and Congressman and urge them to get on the ball and get this thing over with or get out.

Remember what appeacement to Hitler by the allies brought on or do you?

GOODWILL WEEK

National observance of Goodwill Week this year will come during the period May 4-10. Founded at the turn of the Century, Goodwill Industries today has built the largest network of private vocational, educational agencies in the world serving all types of handicapped people. There are now 136 autonomous Goodwill Industries, 42 branch workshops in 178 cities in the United States and another 22 located abroad.

The purpose of Goodwill remains the same – to rehabilitate disabled lives and limbs. In recent years, the emphasis on the idea of service has been greatly expanded. Of the 80,000 people being helped by Goodwill some 50,000 receive the traditional job opportunity and experience. But, half of these persons are also being helped by additional evaluation, counseling, psychological and medical care and therapy. In 1967, the 50,000 employed handicapped persons earned $37 million instead of living on charity from friends or relatives, or on a dole from government agencies. They paid a total tax bill of $3.5 million.

But, the importance of Goodwill Industries cannot be measured in money alone. Its most important contribution to the nation's life lies in what it gives to those it helps in terms of hope, self-respect and a chance to build productive, interesting lives. The spirit of initiative and self-help represented by this fine organization is exemplary. This nation could use large doses of the same spirit in the running of more of its affairs.

BRIEFELY, HERE & THERE: The cost-cuting efforts of the Congress are as permanently fixed as the eye of a hurricane, as more money is voted for OEO, postal rates are increased, etcetera. Meanwhile, House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills holds out for genuine cuts in federal spending before a tax increase gets out of his committee. So, do you agree with him? Disagree? Now is the time for citizens to make their feelings known to Mills and their Congressman . . . September and October were months of great change: Stokely Carmichael left Hanoi, popped up in Africa and Syria and elsewhere, speaking, ranting, revolutionizing, all the time headed in a direction that only seemed to have Moscow at the end of it . . . Alger Hiss, the State Department official who served a prison term for perjury about Communist espionage, landed a job teaching at the New School for Social Research in New York . . . but Che Guevara got his in the jungle of Bolivia - if Bolivian authorities shot the right man . . He looked like Juan Bosch, but he certainly made noises like a fascist. The darling of the super-liberals, the Demonican Republic expres who played footsie with the Communists, the Rousseau of the Caribbean who prated so long about constitutional rule and democracy, saying: "Only under popular dictatorships can Latin Americans solve their economic and social problems without falling into Communist clutches." Will the real Juan Bosch stand up? . . . Question of the year, from Air Force Ace, Col. Robin Olds: ". . . you've got the best armed services you ever fielded. Why don't you use them?" . . . "Manila is ripe for a bloody revolution," said Austin College Government Professor Dr. David Reagan, on his return from a year-long residence there. He said diners are requested to check their guns at restaurant doors, and thievery is so bad "you have to watch your drying laundry, or it won't be there when you return." He blames Communist intervention in Philippine affairs for the "complete breakdown in law and order" . . . The U. S. incebreakers Edisto and Eastwind headed for the Vilkitsky Straits north of the Soviet Union for oceano graphic research duties. The State Department notified the Soviet Union, as a courtesy. The Reds refused passage, thus breaking another of their agreements - the 1958 Geneva Convention on the Seas . . . Notes from readers: G.A.T. of Oakland, Ore., has sent his "bill" for $10 to the U. S. Congress for ten year's cost of home rat control, "because I feel it is only fair I be reimbursed. After all, part of the $40 million you appropriated to eradicate rats is my tax money" . . . The LIFE LINES book review of Herb Luce's Road to Revolution has been translated into Spanish by Tony Solar who edits La Carta Semanal in Miami . . . CONTRIBUTION ANYONE?

The Better Business Bureau of Northeast Kansas (in Topeka) reports in its bulletin that our area is constantly undergoing a seige of solicitations and the BBB suggests some rules to follow before responding with a contribution:

--Learn exact name and address of soliciting organization, as well as the name of its principals. Certain questionable organizations have intentionally adopted names of well known charities.

--Pay no attention to unordered merchandise or tickets accompanied by a request for payment. In Kansas you are under no obligation to pay for or to return them. If you wish to return the merchandise mark "refused" on the package and the post office will see that the sender pays the postage.

--Request confirmation by letter, when solicited by phone. "Boiler - room" tactics (high pressure via telephone) are not employed by legitimate organizations.

--Demand to know how much of your dollar actually will reach the cause for which it is solicited. Ask for written proof.

--Don't be impressed by the use of names of well known persons. Such use may be unauthorized.

--Do not pay in cash. If you contribute, write a check and mail it to the headquarters of the organization.

--Don't be impressed by every appeal having a religious angle. Some are "one-man organizations" or "storefront churches" with a trick name masking a "fast buck" operation.

--Beware of threats, "pressure" selling, promises of favors or protection, when urged to buy advertising space and ignore the sly suggestion that you need friends among factory inspectors, or the police, etc.

Restrict contributions to bona fide charities on which adequate information has been obtained – but we suggest you phone the local chamber of commerce office when in doubt.

WORK FOR THE COMPANY THAT'S TRYING TO DO AWAY WITH JOBS

Any ambitious young man or woman should find the company that is investing everything it can in the most modern work-saving machinery, i.e., in automation. That is the company which is constantly reducing costs so it can reduce prices or produce a better product. That is the company, therefore, which is growing faster than its industry average and so has to hire more workmen. That is the company which can afford to pay better wages to attract the best workmen.

One of the nation's great industrialists says, "All my life I have been trying to do away with jobs in our plant by buying more and better machinery, but all I do is need more workmen to supply the demand for everything we make".

The Quiet American

Nearly eight years have passed since John F. Kennedy chose Dean Rusk as his secretary of state -- eight of the most strenous years any secretary has borne. Yet though the State Department has been the graveyard of many a reputation, Dean Rusk emerges unscathed -- a quiet firm, persistent American who has been wholly devotedto the welfare of his country.

Rusk now prepares to return to the Rockefeller Foundation, which he served as president from 1952 to 1961. He will become the foundation's first distinguished fellow at the end of the Johnson administration Jan. 20, free to rest, to think, and to put on paper his recollections of a momentous and contentious period of American life. Except for his foundation years, he has been a distinguished and dedicated civil servant since the end of the World War II.

Few secretaries of state have lived through as important a period of American history. Typical of his steady hand under pressure was the role he played when the Cuban crisis arose, one settled by President Kennedy with Rusk's sage advice. "We're eyeball to eyeball, and I think the fellow just blinked," was his deathless comment when thyhe Soviets backed down and a nuclear was was averted. He was also the author of a line that is likely to be remembered: "The eagle in the great seal of the United States has two claws, one bearing arrows, the other an olive branch.

In words as in action Secretary Rusk has been a dedicated man. He supported the United States stand against communist agression in South Vietnam, and he bore with exemplary patience the rancor that developed when that venture failed to yield quick victory. He was the first secretary to face the new concept of an indefinite war, in which neither side would win, and in which political considerations played a constantly weightier part.

History may amend the conclusion, but at this moment Dean Rusk seems the prototype of the gallant man, the self-effacing servant of the American people. He has borne with courage and good humor a crushing weight in a period of increasingly complex diplomacy. Americans regardless of party and regardless of opinion about the wisdom of our involvement in Vietnam will join in wishing him well in the years to come.

STUDENTS WHO BUILD, NOT DESTROY

Only a small minority of college students are destructive. The majority of our young people are constructive. They want to build, not tear down.

Recently at Allen University in Columbia, South Carolina, the students demonstrated their desire to help their university.

Allen University is quite small and is having financial difficulties. When the students were informed of a $350,000 debt which needed to be paid, they held a meeting and decided to raise the money themselves. They were willing to undertake this task, even though there were only 750 students on the entire campus, most of whom came from poor families.

The students are keeping their word. Beginning in January of this year, they have been holding a variety of fund-raising projects such as dances, concerts, and exhibits. These events have been meeting with great success, and slowly but surely the money is being accumulated.

The students have the full support of the president of Allen, Dr. J.W. Hairston, and are being assisted in their efforts by many radio and television personalities who recognize the value of what the students are doing. The local community has enthusiastically rallied around the fund drive.

Congressman Albert Watson, who represents the Columbia area, has praised the students. He calls their efforts "symbolic of the typical American student who takes pride in his school and the opportunity that schools affords him for excellence in tomorrow's world."

Congressman Watson adds: "These students are to be commended and they deserve the support of everyone genuinely interested in the future of our college and universities. HLH

"All Aboard for the Country and Party!"

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK AP) — Just because he kisses a tiger on the maw twice a day, Gunther Ge' bel-Williams has been able to buy only $20,000 in life insurance.

"And the premium goes up every two years," he said.

At 34 Gunther is the new superstar of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus, an animal trainer so highly thought of in Europe that it bought up an entire German circus just to get his services.

His animal troupe includes nine tigers, 17 elephants, 40 horses, 50 pigeons, and 10 parrots.

The tiger Gunther smooches, Bengal, is one he raised from a cub. In the climax of his act he sits astride Bengal who is mounted on the back of an elephant.

"People in the audience rarely realize how difficult it is to get tigers and elephants to perform together," he said. "They are natural enemies. In India 20 per cent of baby elephants are killed by tigers.

"But I got the elephants used to Bengal when he was a cub. Most tigers can't stand to be touched. But Bengal loves for me to tickle him under the chin."

Gunther, a slender, blue-eyed man with startling yellow hair, is as handsome as a movie star and has attracted some interest among movie moguls. But the circus remains his world.

A man of leopardlike grace and vitality, Gunther works in the ring without a gun or chair. He avoids the loud dramatics of the Clyde Beatty school of animal training.

"You do it with your voice and the impression of strength you give the animals," he said. "They must respect you and feel that you understand them.

"But with tigers you must all the time be like Tarzan."

The task requires almost endless patience. It takes Gunther six months to teach a tiger to roll over on command. He spent a year perfecting the act in which he, Bengal and the elephant form a pyramid.

"You cannot tell a wild animal he simply must, must, must learn to do a trick today. You must feel that perhaps he will do better tomorrow."

Gunther's arms are deeply scarred by claw marks from his surly charges. But he bears them no malice.

"When these things happen, it is always your own fault," he remarked philosophically. "It happens only when, during training, you get too close to them—so they claw you."

The trainer lives in a trailer parked near his tigers with his wife, Sigrid, a former German model, and their daughter, Tina, who at 6 aspires to be a bareback rider.

"You must stay near your animals all the time so they won't become frightened," he said. "I have never had a vacation from them. I get nervous even if I leave them to go to a movie."

Washington - Merry - Go- Round

By Drew Pearson

--Campus Revolt--

Beginning on Jan. 13, 1969, Drew Pearson wrote a series of columns regarding revolt on the campuses. He had visited, at that time, a total of fifty in one year. He reported that the inspiraion for the campus revolt came from a small, well-organized group, the students for a democratic society, with links to leaders in Germany and France. The SDS appeared to be anarchists, rather than communists, Pearson said.

Since then, the campus revolt has spread. And last week Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., announced that she would summon "the real revolutionaries and anarchists" in an investigation of unrest in the Universities.

Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson say: Campus extremists concern Nixon; SDS learns laws can be used as well as abused; young wallaceites battle Nazi takeover.

WASHINGTON--President Nixon is worried about the dangerous polarization now taking place on college campuses across the nation.

At one extreme are the militants of the new left, who are more interested in confrontation and chaos than reform. At the other extreme are the militants of the radical right, who are preparing to meet violence with violence. Disciples of Adolf Hitler, for example, have grabbed control of the former youth for Wallace organization which campaigned for presidential candidate George Wallace last year.

Nixon has called the attention of his subordinates to a statement by Dr. S.J. Tonsor, a University of Michigan professor, who declared in a recent speech: "Both the extreme right and the extreme left hold he same destructive view. Both Mark Rudd of Columbia (a student radical) and George Wallace of Alabama stand in he schoolroom door, and . . they both hold the same low view of reasoned discourse."

The President offered this statement to key subordinates to guide them in setting the administration's policies toward campus disorders.

Meanwhile the students for a democratic society, whose leaders have been kicking up trouble on the campuses, have quietly embraced the legal system they seek to overthrow. They have obtained legal advice from Edward Bennett Williams' prestigious Washington law firm, which counseled them to incorporate as a non-profit organization.

This not only would permit them to raise funds and organize demonstrations free of government interference, but would make it easier for them to escape individual liability.

--Everything Legal--

Before they hit the American university and George Washington university campuses last week, they adopted the Williams Firm's advice and quietly incorporated on April 10. The corporate papers list three student radicals--Hank Topper, Cathlyn Wilkerson and Andrew St. John--as the Incorporators.

At the same time, Anti-Nazi youth leaders are seeking legal aid to get the former youth for Wallace organization back from Willis Carto, the Nazi philosopher, organizer and financial wizard who gained control through the power of the purse.

He poured more than $40,000 into the Wallace youth movement during the 19680 presidential campaign. By controlling the purse strings, he was able to get custody of the organization's membership lists, contributors' lists and bank assets.

Last Nov. 15, shortly after the election, Carto called the youth for Wallace leaders together and persuaded them to keep the organization intact. They renamed it the national youth alliance, adopted the Nazi credo as its guiding philosphy, launched a propaganda campaign against campus communists and organized rallies across the nation -- at Georgia Tech in Atlanta, UCLA in Los Angeles, Brigham Young university in Provo, Utah, and other universities.

At Wayne State Universitiy in Detroit, they organized a "Shock Squad" armed with rifles and trained in Karate. They are now planning a "White Power" rally at UCLA.

In a letter to NYA leaders, Carto explained that "our strategy has to be to aim for building a hard core for leadership and then to try and get a large following in every section of the country."

The Nazi takeover was so subtle, however, that most of the youth leaders didn't realize it. Carto got their agreement that the NYA would take its ideology from "Imperium." Unfortunately, the young leaders hadn't heard of "Imperium" and didn't realize it was the "Mein Kampf" of the American Nazi movement.

Not until too late did they discover that they had agreed, in effect, to turn the NYA into a Hitler youth movement. The Nazis finally surfaced at a Jan. 25th meeting at Conley's motel near Monroeville, Pa. They wore swastika pins, displayed swastika banners, sang Nazi marching songs and traded Nazi war relics.

The NYA's national officers--John Acord, Dennis McMahon and Louis Andres--immediately tried to purge the Nazis but were forced out themselves by Carto. Another anti-Nazi slate, headed by NYA chairman Pat Tifer, a Wayne State student, won a subsequent election at an NYA organizational meeting March 29-30 at Pittsburgh's pick-Roosebvelt Hotel.

Tifler immediately fired off a blistering letter to Carto, declaring that his election was "a clear, final and absolute rejection of the philosphy of Naziism and those in our organization who were promoting various shades of it.

"It is becoming increasingly apparent to me that these Pro-Nazi parasites in our organization are not only maintaining their membership but, with your encouragement, continuing under the name of the NYA to spread their sick philosophy of totalitarianism.

"Therefore, and with no regrets," he added, "I as national chairman of NYA am hereby revoking your associate membership . . . your placement of pro-nazi individuals into key leadership positions and your fostering of a brown-shirt mentality in the NYA is intolerable.

"Also I am ordering an immediate halt to the distribution of the book, 'Imperium' because of its blatant racists and anti-christian stance. I order you to turn over to me all bank assets. Membership files, contributor lists and other important documents necessary to the maintenance of NYA."

Carto countered by having his stooges in the NYA send Tifer a telegram declaring that he had been ousted. Meanwhile, Carto not only holds all the NYA's finances and records but he is going ahead with a $17,000 program to publish "Imperium" in paperback for distribution on the campuses. He also sent money to NYA leaders in Massachusetts to spread anti-communist literature at Harvard.

Most of the former youth for Wallace leaders, however, stand with Tifer and will join him in legal action against the Nazis.

Some have the idea, that, the common people can't understand the Bible. And therefore, many have excused themselves from studying the Sacred writings and learning what God has said to them through His Holy word. The very idea of "revelation" is something that has been uncovered, made known, or revealed; and Paul said, that the word of God is a revelation. The Bible teaches through intelligent, plain, and simple writings. These writings give us the evidence and substance upon which to build our faith. (Heb. 11:1; Jno. 20:30-31) However, one must read and study these writings in order to comprehend and rightly divide. Hence we are told: 'Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." (2 Tim. 2:15) But there are certain rules of Bible study which are necessary to a proper understanding of God's word. The first rule is with each individual, and it is that one must study (1) Sincerely If we all would study sincerely, diligently, and orderly all of God's word, only He knows how much of our misunderstanding and disagreement would culminate into understanding and unity. Honesty is essential to understanding. An open mind is also a prerequisite to learning. Hence, one must approach the study of the Bible with an open mind and honestly and sincerely search for its truths. Next, we need, (2) "To rightly divide the word." The two major divisions of the of the Bible are the Old Testament and the New Testament. The Old Testament points to Christ, and now that Christ has come, we are no longer under the law (Gal. 3:23-25) This, by no means says that the Old Testament is to be done away with, for it serves many purposes (Rom. 15:4; 1 Cor. 10: 1-11) Through it we see, the creation of the world, how God dealt with sin, ect. But no one can be justified by it today (Acts 13:39). We need next to, (3) "Study the context" By this, we mean, to bring together all the ideas that might be focused in a particular passage. A verse taken out of its setting, can be twisted, misused, and made to teach error. Satan did this. (Matt. 4:6). We need also to: (3) "Study all the Bible Teaches on a subject." The Bible is a perfect book of unity, and it will certainly do violence to the scriptures to array one passage against another. The Bible does not contradict itself and if we run into a supposed contradiction, we need to study every passage that deals with the subject to get the entire truth on the topic. On the subject of salvation, so many go to a single passage of scripture and base their eternal salvation on that one verse. When that verse is to be taken in connection with the rest of the Bible. For an example, the Ephesians were saved by GRACE through FAITH. (Eph. 2:8) This not only envolved God, but, also man. There was a co-operation between God and man. God revealed His plan through (grace) man accepted the plan through (faith) Notice all that the scriptures teach us the Ephesians did;

1. They heard the word of truth. (Eph. 1:13)
2. They believed. (1:13)
3. They repented. (Acts 20:21)
4. They were baptized. (Acts 19:1-5)

The Ephesians were saved, not by one thing, but by all things which God revealed in His word. Jesus died to bring into existence His last will and Testament. (Heb. 9:15-17) Let us learn what He wants us to do through this medium, by "rightly dividing the word."

Ear Specialists Concerned About Deafness in Teenagers

Dear Ann Landers: Last night my 16-year-old granddaughter gave a party. There were at least 30 teen-agers in the house. They rolled back the rugs, moved all the furniture on the porch and placed music for dancing. I didn't seen any dancing – just some catatonic, zombie-like motions and a lot of jerking and shaking.

What disturbed me more than anything was the music. It gave me a splitting headache. The kids these days insist on turning up the stereo amplifier as high as it will go. It virtually assaults the eardrums.

I notice that our teen-age grandchildren do not hear their parents when they speak in normal conversational tones. Unless instructions are screamed they are ignored. I think the kids are actually deaf. My husband says, "There's nothing wrong with their hearing. They hear when they want to."

Tell me, Ann, is it possible that our teen-agers are becoming hard of hearing because of the loud music they seem to idolize? If so, someone should tell them. — Antique Ada

Dear Ann: Someone has told them. Ear specialists are deeply concerned and have said so. It has been proved that loud music produces serious hearing problems among the young. Several cases of permanent deafness among musicians have been noted. So take heed, kids, and turn down the volume. Do you hear me out there? I SAY — TURN DOWN THE VOLUME!!!!

Dear Ann Landers: My mother is 53 and looks 40. After Dad died two years ago Mum started to go with a divorced man who is about five years her junior. Barry is handsome, charming, allergic to work in any form and, in my opinion, rotten to the core.

I've seen Barry around town with at least three different chippies. Of course I've never mentioned it to anyone. About a month ago Mum and I ran into Barry and a trollop, or should I say THEY ran into us. Literally. I was parking the car and Barry's car sideswept us. No one was hurt but Mom fell apart when she saw them (Barry was supposed to be out of town).

Since that night Mum has had stomach pains and has been doctoring to beat the band. She's had x-rays, is taking pills and sedatives and is on a special diet. Her doctor can't find anything wrong with her. I know she is tied up in knots over her love affair which is going haywire.

Should I make an appointment to see the Doctor and tell him the background before she quits him and goes to another doctor who might take out her gall bladder? — Worried Daughter

Dear Daughter: It is extremely helpful to the physician if he knows something about the patient's emotional problems. I suggest that you write the doctor a note. An appointment would take up valuable time which could be

MSHSAA Takes Action Against KC Lincoln

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Lincoln High School of Kansas City was placed on probation today by the Missouri State High School Activities Association for incidents that took place during and after a basketball game at the Kansas City Interscholastic fieldhouse March 10.

The game involved Central High School of St. Joseph and Lincoln and it was terminated with two seconds playing time remaining after both officials in the game had been struck by a spectator.

F. C. Baker, principal of the St. Joseph school, said he was injured in the melee, and at least six St. Joseph fans said they were injured in fights in or around the fieldhouse.

The association's board of control laid down a 7-point ruling concluding that "the privileges of interscholastic athletics will not be denied students at Lincoln High School provided the conditions of this probation are met and improvement is shown."

The control board directed that the school organize a program to improve conduct at interscholastic events, that students and players be informed that they must become involved in improving sportsmanship if interscholastic athletics are to be continued at Lincoln, and that coaches at Lincoln shall have established certain policies as guidelines.

The board also asked parents to become involved in assisting the school to improve sportsmanship and that there be adequate supervision at contests, emphasizing that each school is responsible for the conduct of its teams, coaches, students and fans both at home and away.

The board asked for progress reports from Lincoln and instructed that the MSHSAA office assist the school in any way possible.

The incident at the fieldhouse got considerable notice when Baker announced his team would not return to finish the tournament playoffs. Central's next game was transferred to Maryville where it lost to William Chrisman. Under no circumstances, Baker announced, would he bring Central back to the Kansas City court. "It's like a lion's den," he said.

Shortly after the game the Jackson County prosecutor, Joe Teasdale, filed a charge of felonious assault against W. D. Roby, 18, a spectator who was identified as a student from another Kansas City school.

The prosecutor said the weapon Roby was accused of using in striking a referee was a heavy vinyl-covered rope six or eight feet long with a metal ring at one end and a hook at the other. The metal fixtures were said to weigh about a pound apiece.

Roby waived a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Bernard W. Gnefkow in Kansas City Wednesday and was bound over for trial in circuit court.

Memphis Open Set May 29-June 1

MEMPHIS, Tenn. - There is every indication that the Colonial Country Club golf course will be in absolutely peak condition for the 12th annual staging of the Memphis Open, May 29 - June 1, 1969. Club professional Jake Fondren and course superintendent Ed Nunley are pleased enough with early prospects to predict thatthe course will be in best shape ever.

"We are three weeks ahead of last year in getting the course ready," Mr. Nunley said. The coating of straw used to protect the regular greens during the winter was removed in mid-March, and the Tifton 328 bermuda began coming through almost immediately, with only a minimum of foreign grass present. The fairways also survived the winter in better than normal condition. Mr. Nunley feels that poisoning out the foreign grass in the fairways will be relatively easy job, and that by tournament time they will be verdant strips of almost pure bermuda grass - pleasant to the eye and offering good lies for the players.

No attempts will be made to toughen the course especially for the tournament. The fairways will be kept at their normal width. Colonial is a tight golf course under normal conditions, and tournament officials saw no need for further tightening by letting the rough grow in to make the fairways narrower.

The rough will be allowed to grow to a height of four inches, which is the same as it has been for previous Memphis Opens. The greens will be cut to three-sixteenths of an inch if the weather is dry, or to seven thirty- seconds of an inch if it is wet. This will produce medium-speed greens - slower than the greens at the Masters, for example, but fast enough to call for a certain amount of caution on approach putts. Reading breaks on the greens should be no great problem for the experienced pros; the ball will go just about where it looks like it should.

Colonial has been called a relatively easy golf course for the pros. At 6,466 yards, it is shorter than most tournament courses, but it nevertheless demands good tee-shot placement and intelligent play overall. Many a player has underestimated it, to his sorrow and embarrassment. The tournament record for a single round of 63 is one stroke lower than for the Masters, and Bert Yancey's Memphis Open record total of 265 is six strokes higher than Jack Nicklaus's record of 271 at the Augusta National National Golf Club.

There have been no fluke winners of the Memphis Open. Bob Lunn was a virtual unknown when he won here in 1968, but he quickly established his authenticity as a fine player, and will return to defend his championship as one of the real stars of the P.G.A. Tour. Others who have won or been in playoffs include Ben Hogan, Gary Middlecoff, Jack Nicklaus, Gene Littler, the late Tony Lema, Tommy Bolt, Mike Souchak, Gary Player, and Lionel Hebert.

This year's field figures to be great in all respects. The $150,000 in prize money, up $50,000 for last year, plus the incidental fact that the Memphis Open comes just two weeks before the National Open at the Champions Club at Houston, will surely leave no players lacking in incentive to come to Memphis.

Track Classic Draws KHS's Greg Buys

MEXICO – Five Missouri high school track stars are among the first entries in the sixth annual Midwest Classic invitational track meet to be held June 9 here.

Greg Buys, a senior from Kennett, has hurled the discus 173-11 and has recorded a 60-1 heave in the shotput.

Buys' discus mark is easily the best yet entered in this year's Classic, but he could have trouble in the shotput if Hannibal's Terry Coons has a good day.

Coons has recorded a 53-9 in his speciality, and will also compete in the discus. His longest in that event is a 140-11 throw.

Drixel's Joe Balentine and Galena's Kennie Flood are neck - and - neck in the long jump field with marks of 21-0.

Both are versatile athletes and are entered in three events. In addition to the long jump, Flood has recorded times of 10.2 in the 100 and 23.0 in the 220.

Balentine, a pole vaulter and high jumper, has cracked 12-8 and 5-10 in those events.

Also entered in the high jump is Mike Tracy of Fair Grove High, who has jumped 6-0 this spring. He will have to hustle, however, to beat Randy Smith of McPherson, Kans., who is the top entry at 6-3½.

Home state athletes have always done well in the Classic, which draws top high school performers from throughout the Midwest.

Phil Cosey of Kansas City holds the meet record in the 100 with a 9.6 clocking, while Norris White, also from Kansas City, holds the long jump mark of 23-4¼.

Dave Bussabarger of Columbia set the pole vault record of 14-7 last summer, but Plattsburg's Charles Scearce has held the 220 standard of 21.0 since 1965.

Lakers Take Lead; Jerry West Injured

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Lakers head to Boston leading the National Basketball Association championship playoffs 3-2 but with their sharpest shooter, Jerry West, injured.

After scoring 39 points in the Lakers' 117-104 triumph at The Forum on Thursday night, West limped from the floor with a pulled left hamstring muscle.

"I'm sure when I wake up Saturday morning, I'll know if I can play or not," said Jerry after undergoing initial treatment.

The sixth game of the bestof-seven series goes at the Boston Garden at 5 p.m. EDT, Saturday afternoon. Without West, who has been averaging 39.6 against the Celtics, the Laker offense loses its zing, and Los Angeles must win once more to take the title.

"I was stretching and Emmette Bryant bumped me," was the way West described the injury. "You only pull a muscle by stretching it, not by getting hit by somebody."

Also injured, but not so seriously, was 7-foot-2 Wilt Chamberlain who suffered a bruised eye when he was hit, also by Bryant.

Chamberlain was hurt in the third period, but returned after a minute's rest.

"Things were blurry for the rest of the game," asserted the big guy who hauled down 31 rebounds while his arch-foe Bill Russell could grab but 13.

Coach Bill Van Breda Kolff made a lineup switch when he sent Keith Erickson in at a starting forward spot, primarily to check John Havlicek, the Celtic's scoring star.

Havlicek scored only six points through three periods although winding up with 18. When Erickson would leave, Tom Hawkins came in to handle the guarding assignment.

"I made up my mind to start Erickson after the Tuesday night game," the coach said. In that 89-88 Laker loss in Boston, Erickson didn't allow Havlicek a field goal in the final period.

"If West can't play Saturday, Keith will go to the back court," Van Breda Kolff added.

Boston led 24-23 at the end of the first quarter before the 17,553 fans, but the Lakers rallied in the second and pulled ahead at 49-45.

Perhaps the most important play came midway in the third when West drove in to score on a reverse layup and draw a foul from Russell, the fourth for the player-coach, who had to go cautiously from then on.

Russell refused comment but Havlicek said, "we were hurt because we were double teaming a lot and the open man was scoring, sometimes Egan, sometimes Erickson. I just didn't have a good shooting night early in the game. Sam Jones and Larry Siegfried were shooting well, so I didn't take as many shots as I might have normally."

Egan, the running mate for Wet in the back court, scored 23 points while Erickson tallied 16.

Jones paced Boston with 25 while Siegfried tallied 20.

Pitching Comeback In Majors

Revenge Motivates Wilson's No-Hitter

Pitcher Don Wilson of the struggling Houston Astros rubbed shoulders with baseball's elite for the second time in his career today all because of bitterness toward the Cincinnati Reds and a burning desire to get even.

Wilson blazed his right-handed slants past the Reds Thursday night for a brilliant no-hit, 4-0 victory and then said bluntly:

"I don't like them.

"I wanted to pay them back for what they did to us when they beat me 14-0" on April 22 at Houston's Astrodome. "They stuck out their tongues at us. They laughed at us.

"They embarrassed us ... I was pretty strongly motivated not only for the win but to get the no-hitter. I wanted to prove to them we are professionals, too."

It was the second no-hitter at Cincinnati's Crosley Field in 24 hours. Only Wednesday night, the Reds' Jim Maloney had blanked the Astros—on hits and runs—10-0.

Wilson's performance took the spotlight quickly off of the Los Angeles Dodgers' Don Sutton, who in an afternoon game at San Francisco just missed a nohitter when Jim Davenport doubled for the lone Giants hit with one out in the eighth. The Dodgers won 5-0. In other NL games, Montreal nipped New York 3-2, St. Louis clobbered Pittsburgh 9-3 and San Diego edged Atlanta 4-3.

Wilson said Thursday night's no-hitter gave him "more personal satisfaction than mv first one in Atlanta" as a rookie two years ago. He struck out 13 batters, walked six and hit one.

Only two Reds reached second. Johnny Bench walked and stole second in the second inning. Wilson walked pinch hitter Jim Stewart and Pete Rose in the eighth.

His verbal blasts at the Reds brought this comment from Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol:

"I'm not a Don Wilson fan. I don't think many of our guys think much of wilson either."

Astros Manager Harry Walker paused to compare the performances of both Wilson and Maloney.

"My man had a rougher time of it," Walker said, "because he was under pressure all the way. He had not won on the road this year, and he did not have a big lead like Maloney."

Doug Rader put Wilson ahead in the fourth with a home run. Dennis Menke's double scored two more runs in the fifth. The Astros got their last run in the eighth on Curt Blefary's triple and Wilson's sacrifice fly. Wilson's record now is 2-3.

Wilson, 24-25 in his brief career with the Astros going into this season, has had startling success against the Reds in the past. Last July 14, he tied the major league record by striking out 18 Cincinnati batters, including a record-tying eight in succession.

This was only the second time in baseball history two consecutive no-hitters have been pitched in the same park involving the same clubs. The Giants' Gaylord Perry beat St. Louis 1-0 last Sept. 17 in a night game at San Francisco. The Cardinals' Ray Washburn got a 2-0 no-hit triumph over the Giants the next afternoon.

Sutton's conquest of the Giants Thursday ended San Francisco's nine-game winning streak and left the Dodgers and Giants tied for first in the NL's Western Division. Sutton, 3-2, has pitched 25 successive scoreless innings.

Sutton almost got into trouble in the opening inning when he issued walks to Don Mason with one out and Willie McCovey with two outs. Dave Marshall's grounder forced Mason at second, and Jack Hiatt fouled out.

Tom Haller drove in two runs in the fourth and Willie Davis and Bill Sudakis slammed homers in the fifth and sixth for the Dodgers.

Montreal's triumph broke the Mets' three-game winning streak in an afternoon affair in Montreal. Jose Laboy's ninth-inning sacrifice fly scored pinch runner Ron Brand for the winning run. Donn Clendenon homered for the Expos. Elroy Face, 1-0, was the victor and Don Cardwell, 0-4, the loser.

San Diego beat the Braves at Atlanta when Tony Gonzalez crashed a two-run, eighth-inning homer. Orlando Cepeda had given the Braves a three-run bulge in the third with a triple and then scored on a wild throw.

Cardinals Beat Pirates

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nelson Briles held Pittsburgh to six hits to notch his first victory of the season as the St. Louis Cardinals clobbered the Pirates 9-3, while the Kansas City Royals squeaked past the Chicago White Sox for the second straight night, 5-4 in 12 innings, Thursday night.

Briles, who had lost two decisions, benefited from an 11-hit Cardinal attack which was paced by Jim Hicks' two-run triple—his first hit of the season—and Vada Pinson's three runs batted in on a double and sacrifice fly.

Hicks staked the Cards to a 2-0 lead in the fourth, and they got the eventual winning run on an error, a single by Julian Javier and a sacrifice fly by Curt Flood in the fifth.

Briles said the hit gave him a boost. "I finally had the control I've wanted," he said. "Maybe this is a sign things will be going better for us."

Vada Pinson, who did not start the game because of a sore leg, came in as a pinch batter in the eighth inning to drive in two runs and score one himself.

"I told Red (Manager Red Schoendienst) I could pinch hit and he put me in. It worked out okay," Pinson said.

The Pirates got to Briles for a pair of unearned runs in the sixth, but St. Louis got going again with three runs each in the eighth and ninth innings. Errors by Javier and Mike Shannon led to the Pirates' two runs in the sixth.

The Cardinals return home and tonight open a three-game weekend series in Busch Stadium against Philadelphia. Kansas City embarked on an 11-day road trip, starting tonight with a doubleheader at California.

PITCHING - Don Wilson, Astros, hurled the second no-hitter of his three-year career, blanking Cincinnati 4-0 and striking out 13 to dpulicate Reds ace Jim Maloney's no-hit feat against Houston the previous night.

BATTING - Bill Freehan, Tigers, hit his 99th career homer, a two-run fifth inning blast that gave Detroit a 2-0 victory over Baltimore.

Glaciers cover one-eighth of Iceland's 39.768 square miles.

McLain, Boswell Notch Victories

Denny McLain and Dave Boswell are walking around with lumps on their heads today. It only hurts when they laugh.

McLain tossed three hitless innings against Baltimore Thursday night before trying to field Bog Powell's comeback bouncer with his forehead. It went for a single, but the Detroit ace shook off the cobwebs and yielded just two more hits as the Tigers beat the Orioles 20 on Bill Freehan's homer.

Boswell, his eye blackened and knee bruised from a scuffle with a fan the previous day, pitched five strong innings before giving way to reliever Joe Grzenda as the Minnesota Twins trimmed Seattle 4-1 in an afternoon game for their sixth straight victory.

McLain, who brought his record to 4-3 in a tight duel with previously unbeaten Jim Palmer, accepted his bump on the noggin in typical good humor. "It stunned me, that's all," said the 1968 American League MVP. "If it hits my glove, I've got it. They call me 'Hot Hands.'"

Boswell, roughed up by the unidentified spectator after Wednesday's game against the Pilots, was understandably, a little less cheerful after his gutsy pitching effort for the streaking Twins.

He said the fan walked up to him and hit him on the head. Whn he asked for an apology, about five others tried to get at him.

"It was a free-for-all ... on me," said the Minnesota righthander, who was rescued by teammates Cesar Tovar and John Roseboro. "It bothers me when a guy like that comes up to you and treats you like an animal."

Boswell brightened when asked about Thursday's victory. "Joe (Grzenda) did his thing. Everybody did their thing," he said.

In other AL games, California nipped Oakland 3-2 in 10 innings; Kansas City edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4 in 12; Washington got past Boston 7-6 and Cleveland downed the New York Yankees 6-2.

McLain, beaten by the highflying Orioles at Baltimore eight days ago, struck out six, walked one and won the return match in one hour and 49 minutes.

"I didn't have good stuff in Baltimore, but here I had real good stuff," said the stocky right-hander, who topped the majors with 31 victories a year ago.

Palmer, 3-1, allowed two hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth, but one of them was Freehan's fifth homer, a two-run shot in the fifth. It was the 99th career clout for the big Detroit catcher.

Boswell limited the Pilots to three hits, including a homer by Wayne Comer, before his banged-up left knee forced him out of the game. Grzenda came on to complete a five-hitter and wrap up Boswell's third victory in five decisions.

Rookie Charlie Manuel delivered two Minnesota runs with a third inning single and a basesloaded walk in the fifth.

Oakland reliever Lew Krausse filled the bases on two walks and a single in the 10th inning, then nicked Tom Satriano with a pitch, forcing in the winning run. The Athletics had tied the game in the ninth on Reggie Jackson's two-run homer.

Oakland's Rick Monday, who had equaled Lou Gehrig's AL record of RBI in 10 consecutive games, was shut out by Rudy May and winner Hoyt Wilhelm. Monday went 0-for-3 and never batted with a runner on base.

Joe Foy's run-scoring single in the 12th sent the Royals past Chicago, extending the White Sox' losing string to four games. The Royals caught the Sox in the ninth, when Jack Hernandez singled, took second on left fielder Carlos May's bobble and scored the tying run on a twoout single by pinch hitter Bob Taylor.

May and Don Pavletich homered for the White Sox.

Del Unser's two-run single in the sixth sparked the Senators to their seventh victory in eight starts after Frank Howard tied the game 5-5 in the fifth with his ninth homer.

Ken McMullen hit a two-run homer for the Senators, who vaulted into second place in the East Division, 2½ games behind front-running Baltimore.

The Indians, held hitless by Stan Bahnsen for six innings, clipped him for two runs in the seventh, then broke loose for four runs against Steve Hamilton in the ninth. Duke Sims' three-run homer capped the burst.

Tourism Growing In State

It's that time of year again. Dogwood and redbud are blossoming. Trout are biting. The air has that just-washed smell. Missouri was never more inviting.

And more friends and relatives of Show-Me State residents are going to accept Missouri's invitation this year than ever before. Missouri Tourism Commission estimates indicate that 6,670,000 outstate tourists will visit their friends and relatives while vacationing in Missouri this year.

This figue does not include mothers-in- law who decide to travel from St. Joseph to Sikeston to see their darling daughters or college cronies from Columbia who just happen to be in your vicinity at suppertime. Great aunts from Anabel who want to see just who is "deserving" enough to be left in their wills are not in the count. Neither are next door neighbors who seem glued to the chairs on your patio. Or the screaming brats who always have to play in your back yard.

The answer to this problem is obvious. Escape before the deluge begins. You needn't go far. There's plenty to escape to in Missouri.

For information and a map to help you plan your escape route just write to the Missouri Tourism Commission, 308 E. High St., Box 1055, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

Our government pays farmers a subsidy to grow more tobacco and then requires the warning "May be hazardous to your health" on each pack of cigarettes.

Weather Station to Stay Open

Area persons were informed for the first time yesterday that the U. S. Weather Bureau at Portageville will remain open, via a radio broadcast by Memphis radio - television farm reporter, Derek Rooke, on a network farm show carried by several area radio stations.

In the broadcast on the Amchem network news, Rooke said he had learned that the Portageville station, and the Jackson, Tenn. weather station would remain open, despite a recent announcement the bureaus would be closed.

Leonard Hand of the Portageville weather center told newsmen yesterday he had known for several days the bureau would be kept in operation, however at the time it was "privileged information." He said he had received official notification by telephone this week.

Earlier, Missouri U. S. Senators Stuart Symington, and Thomas F. Eagleton and Tenth District Congressman Bill D. Burlison expressed concern over the reports that the Farm Weather Bureau Reporting Station was to be closed June 30, 1969.

In a wire to Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans, the Missouri lawmakers requested a reconsideration of such a decision in an area "which is one of the richest farm areas in America, with peculiar climatic conditions." They stated that persons in this area needed to continue to receive this essential weather information. (From the Dunklin Democrat)

Groundbreaking Held for New Airport Building

The new airport administration building moves one step closer, when groundbreaking took place Thursday at the south portion of the airport grounds.

The building will be of brick veneer and will measue 27 by 56 feet, and modern in design, with a large window wall facing the taxiways.

The building will cost an estimated $33,850, and will be built by the Brown Construction company of Dexter. Construction will begin immediately, and grading is already underway.

The building will include a manager's office, flight office, ticket sales room and sales office, baggage room and lobby, and completely airconditioned.

All city officials and all members of the airport board, with the exception of Harold Jones, Harold Pitman and Ralph Boyer, were present for the groundbreaking.

CHAIN REACTION

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP) — In clearing pinion trees from 400 acres of ranch lands in southern Colorado, a contractor attached a 450-foot anchor chain to two heavy tractors which dragged the chain through the tree stands. Each link of the chain weighed about 65 pounds.

Eight--Run For The Roses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four thoroughbred champions and four pretenders to glory got their final grooming today for the 95th running of the Kentucky Derby.

The field of eight, one of them a potential scratch, is the smallest in 21 years and, most fans believe, the strongest in a far longer time.

Majestic Prince, the unbeaten and untried king of the West Coast, has been tabbed as the probable betting favorite in the 1¼-mile Run for the Roses tha goes to the post at 5:30 p.m. EDT, Saturday.

Flying the colors of Canadian oil millionaire Frank McMahon, the $250,000 yearling purchase has mowed down 47 opponents in seven races, all of them except his first and last at Santa Anite.

Majestic Prince would be the odds-on choice to cop the $125,000-added Derby except for three things. Their names are Top Knight, Dike and Arts and Letters.

Top Knight has finished first in three of four races this year, although he was disqualified to third in the Bahamas stakes. His only drawback is a fiveweek layoff since his Florida Derby victory.

"If you've only got one good suit, you don't wear it very often," trainer Ray Metcalf said in explaining the sparse racing schedule of the chestnut colt he trains for the Steven B. Wilson estate.

"Top Knight is my only good suit," he chuckled.

Claiborne Farm's Dike, a late-charging son of French Derby champion Herbager, ran poorly in Florida when he was asked for too much too soon, but prompted new hope in victories in New York's Gotham and Wood Memorial.

Arts and Letters, the Virginia-bred property Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable, was a bridesmaid in the Flamingo, Fountain of Youth and Florida Derby, but took center stage with a 15-length victory in th Blue Grass Stakes last week a Keeneland.

So evenly matched are th Big Four that track handicappe John Battaglia made Majesti Prince the probable 6-5 bettin favorite, then turned around an picked Dike as the progran choice.

Challenging the four befor an estimated crown of 100,000 are Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harris, Rae Jet, Leo Miller's Ocean Roar, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Roberts' Traffic Mark and the Kanowsky syndicate's Fleet Allied.

Rae Jet also was entered in a pair of lesser races Saturday, giving his owners chance to change their minds and save the $1,000 due Saturday for each Derby starter.

If all eight answer the call to the post, the race will gross $155,700, with the winner picking up $113,200. The Derby formula calls for $25,000 for the second finisher, $12,500 for third and $5,000 for fourth.

Top Knight, with rider Manuel Ycaza looking for his first Derby victory after eight misses, drew the inside post position when the eight hopefuls plunked down $500 apiece Thursday to enter.

Arkansas Derby winner Traffic Mark drew the No. 2 post with Arts and Letters, with jockey Braulio Baeza substituting for the injured Bill Shoemaker, in No. 3.

Rae Jet, Fleet Allied and Ocean Roar line up in the fourth to sixth gates with Dike and Panamanian riding phenom Jorge Velasquez in No. 7 and Majestic Prince and Derby sensation Bill Hartack on the outside.

Principal's Son Earns Ph.D

CHARLESTON - Clyde W. Franklin, son of Lincoln School Principal Coy. W. Franklin and Mrs. Bernice Franklin of Blytheville, Ark., has received his doctor of philosophy degree in sociology from the University of Washington at Seattle.

Dr. Franklin completed course requirements for the degree in 1968, and successfully defended his dissertation in Mid-March, according to notification received from Joseph L. McCarthy, dean of the Washington U. Graduate School.

According to Principal Franklin, his son is the first Negro to receive the doctoral degree from the Seattle school in sociology.

Dr. Franklin is married and has three sons, Coy, 3, Seon, 2½, and Clyde, 1.

He is teaching at California State, Fullerton, this year, but has accepted a research position at Ohio State University in Columbus for the 1969-70 school year.

Dr. Franklin graduated from Carver High School in Marked Tree, Ark., where his father was principal, and received the B. A. degree from Arkansas AM&N College, Pine Bluff.

He received his masters degree from Atlanta (Ga.) University, and worked toward to doctorate at the University of Illinois before transferring to SEattle.

More Foreigners Playing U.S. Market

WASHINGTON - (AP) - Foreigners played U. S. stock markets in a big way last year increasing net purchases more than three times any previous year and brightening that corner of the balance of payments picture.

The securities and Exchange Commission reported today purchases of $13.1 billion offset by sales of $10.8 billion for a net of $2.3 billion.

In 1967 net purchases got up to $760 million, reversing the trend from 1964 to 1966 when foreigners sold more U. S. stocks than they purchased.

The SEC said an increasing number of U. S. stock brokerage firms are opening offices in major cities abroad.

Call of Outdoors Boon to Ozarks

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)— The lure of the outdoors is pushing suburbia deep into the Ozarks.

Recreation, proximity to recreational centers and a desire for leisurely living have turned one-time remote areas of the hill country into bustling, yet low geared suburbs.

Major impoundments, such as Table Rock Lake, Bull Shoals and Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri, Grand Lake of the Cherokees in Oklahoma and Beaver Lake in Arkansas, are the magnets attracting hordes of pleasure seekers to the hills. Their presence has made tourism a major industry and has eased the economic pain of some depressed areas.

The demands of city life and added leisure hours have enabled city dwellers not only to discover the pleasure of hill living but to take full advantage of it. The result has been a new demand for real estate once relegated to the acorn and the razorback.

Lakefront versions of the sun cities of the Southwest desert country are springing up, creating permanent homes for the retired. Coupled with the resorts and fishing docks which have been cashing in on the weekend and vacation attractions of fishing, boating, skiing, swimming and camping, the greater demand for building and camping sites is a boon to the area.

Federal Reclamation projects, created to alleviate water shortages and provide flood protection, triggered the new way of life. The federal government got into the recreation business quite by accident—it just grew like topsy.

Impoundments were created by dams and reservoirs, first to supply irrigation waters in arid areas. The programs later expanded to other areas of the country, including the Ozarks, for flood control and a source of hydroelectric power.

Other benefits naturally resulted. Water supply source, water quality control, fish and wildlife enhancement and recreational sites all fell into line and are key factors in water control programming. When a lake was created, an attraction for the public was there.

There are some oldtimers who decry the demise of the Ozark river float trips and the solitude of fishing on a river bank. The lakes ended much of that in affected areas, but there is no denying the impact on the economy.

Once the federal government, through the Corps of Engineers which constructs and maintains the impoundments, became aware of the recreational importance of their creations, it became wholly involved. For several years the government participated in 100 per cent financing of recreational facilities and areas in and around impoundments. Within recent years federal participation has been only on a 50 per cent basis with state and local agencies providing one half. But this applies only to new projects and not those now in existence.

The original benefits of these projects are intangible to the average outdoor lover, but there is no denying what he thinks of a day of boating or fishing, a weekend of camping or permanent residency on one of the man-made lakes.

House to Give Public Voice In Crime Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the new House committee on crime says the panel is going to look for solutions from the one source he feels has not been tapped—the ordinary citizen.

"Everybody else except the people involved have been heard by crime commissions," said Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla. "I want us to go to a number of big cities and hear from ordinary citizens on what can be done about crime."

"The one thing we can do that hasn't been done before is go to the people," he said in an interview. "Perhaps they have suggestions the experts have missed."

The House, in authorizing the committee Thursday, gave it sweeping authority to look into the causes of crime and what can be done to combat it. The panel, however, has no power to initiate legislation.

What will the committee accomplish?

"I don't know whether we can do anything," Pepper answered. "But I intend to try."

"We'll deal with everything from illegal drug traffic to organized crime and juvenile delinquency to homicide," Pepper said. "This will include student episodes when they involve crimes like trespass, assault and weapons."

Pepper said the House created the committee because of rising public criticism and concern. It is time, he indicated, for the government to let the people know what is being done and what they can do to help.

Lady Educator Has Remedy for Rebel Students

NEW YORK AP) — If you don't have to pay the piper, the dancing may get wild.

That, briefly, is the condition now convulsing the campuses, in the view of a noted Catholic educator, Jacqueline Grennan.

She suggests a radical remedy: Give students complete responsibility, both for their conduct and also the costs.

"Radical freedom is much harder than partial freedom," she said in an interview. "As long as we've gone this far, we have to go all the way, and put buying power in their hands."

Today's collegians insist that they're entitled to a major role in running the educational machinery, she notes, but under present arrangements, they don't have to bear the costs of what they do. The oldsters foot the bills.

She sees this as an artificial, unbalanced situation that produces irrational behavior. The circumstances also tend to forestall the application of St. Paul's ancient injunction: "Whatever a man sows, that will he also reap."

To bring some chastening realism into the present distorted picture, in which students want to make their own decisions but aren't accountable for the results, she proposes that they be given responsibility for both.

That would make for a more normally proportioned situation, she says, in which students not only "must decide what to do, but in which they must live with the consequences of what they do."

Miss Grennan, an eminently straightforward, vivacious and attractive Christian thinker, created a sensation in Catholic educational reform in1967 and did so with a grace that won official Church sanction.

She gained a dispensation from her vows as a nun of the Sisters of Loretto to transform Webster College, of which she is president, from a Church institution to a secular one, under lay control.

Malpractice Suits Boost Medical Costs

By Charles G. Mc Daniel
AP Science Writer

Malpractice suits filed by patients against doctors are contributing to the increased cost of medical care in the United States.

Rates on malpractice insurance for doctors have soared across the country and the increased costs are borne, at least in part, by the patient.

Statistics show that one doctor out of every six of the 300,000 in the United States has been, or is being, sued for malpractice. Last year, doctors paid $75 million in malpractice insurance premiums.

Some $18 million was paid in awards to patients in 1968, according to Bernard D.Hirsh, general counsel of the American Medical Association. Legal fees added to the costs.

William F. Martin, a New York lawyer, said in a paper recently before the National Medicolegal Symposium in Las Vegas: "Spokesman both for the medical profession and the insurance industry agree that the higher rates are caused by the increased number of malpractice suits being filed by disgruntled patients and the larger settlements being made both in and out of court."

The Insurance Information Institute in New York says premiums on malpractice insurance are up 47 per cent over a year ago.

The institute, in a recent announcement of rate revisions, stated that from 1959 through 1963, insurance companies paid $140 for every $100 received in premiums from physicians. For surgeons it was $151 for every $100.

Recent revisions upped malpractice rates in 27 states, while reducing them in two.

The increases ranged from 10 per cent in four states to 75 per cent in Montana and Ohio and 100 per cent in Vermont. Rates in six states went up 50 to 60 per cent.

Rates were reduced 10 per cent in New Hampshire and 15 per cent in Oregon.

Rates for hospitals maintaining liability insurance likewise are rising.

There are other patient costs, too, engendered by extra-cautious—and perhaps unnecessary —tests, a committee of the AMA trustees reported.

There are no recent statistics to show whether there has been an increase in malpractice suits filed, but many doctors, lawyers and insurance men say there has been.

Martin cited these cases as examples of the trend toward higher awards:

A woman in Florida received a $1.5 million verdict in an anesthesia mishap; $1.4 million to a California man similarly injured, and $1.25 million to a New Mexico boy whose scalp was severely burned in treatment for ringworm.

Some physicians pay $12,000 to $15,000 a year for maximum coverage, an AMA official said.

Minimum coverage might cost $400 to $600 for protection against claims of up to $5,000. Many hospitals insist that doctors with staff privileges carry at least $100,000 in insurance, and often more.

Speeches and articles by doctors and lawyers and files of the American Medical Association list a number of reasons for the filing of malpractice suits.

Among the most prominently mentioned are:

—With the number of doctors failing to increase as rapidly as the population, doctors are busier and the doctor-patient relationship is less personal than that of the sentimentally recalled family doctor.

—Lawyers pressing malpractice claims are paid a contingent fee; that is, their fee depends on whether they win the case, and then it is a percentage of the award to the plaintiff. This is said to encourage vigorous trial of a claim and pressing juries for big awards.

—Courts are more liberal in the type of evidence permitted in malpractice suits. In the past, it has been difficult to get a doctor to testify against one of his colleagues, but now textbooks and outside experts are permitted in court.

—Publicity given malpractice suits, whether the suits are successful or not, encourages others to file suits.

—The public has been oversold on the value of modern drugs and modern surgical techniques, so more is expected from doctors and hospitals than sometimes can be delivered.

Richard P. Bergen, director of the AMA's department of legal research, said the trend to higher awards to successful plaintiffs results from the fact that the public is aware that doctors have the highest average income of any professional group so juries decide "for the working stiff."

College Opens Own Museum

WARRENSBURG, Mo. AP) — Central Missouri State College opened its own museum Thursday featuring general history, anthropology and natural history. The museum in Clark Hall south of the College Union will be under direction of Dr. Pete Nichols, an assistant professor of social science at Central Missouri.

The museum's first exhibit has been in preparation for over a year and is centered around World War I. Over 80 World War I posters have been collected and are on display along with other items.

Ozark Summer Event Calendars Offered

JOPLIN, Mo. AP)—The distribution of 10,000 copies of the 1969 summer calendar of Ozarks events has been started by the Ozarks Playground Association.

The folder lists events through August and invites tourists and vacationers to write the association for a map and a listing of resort facilities.

Maverick's hot! Any questions?

Measure it any way you like. By the crowds. The news stories. The sales. Few cars have caused a sensation like Maverick or broken so many records. Every day more and more people are asking questions about it. Here are the answers.

Q. Why did you build the Maverick?
A. We think of Maverick as another one of Ford Motor Company's answers to the gold drain. Now Americans who want small car economy don't have to send their U.S. dollars overseas.

Q. Why did you call it Maverick?
A. You know what a maverick is. A maverick breaks the rules. A maverick is different. Maverick plugs the big gap between the compacts and the imports. It has a wheelbase eight inches shorter than a '69 Falcon, eight and one-half inches longer than a VW 1500. Nothing else like it.

Q. Why did you make it this size?
A. Maverick pinches pennies, not people. We gave Maverick more leg room. More shoulder room. More luggage room. Good example: the front seat of a Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room than the front seat of the leading economy import and its trunk can handle all the luggage for a family of four, including a set of golf clubs.

Q. What do I get for the price?
A. You get your money's worth. A complete, built-for-Americans kind of car. Room. Hot styling. Color-keyed interiors. Even the heater is included. Some economy car interiors are about as luxurious as a park bench. Not Maverick's. You get plush seats. Cloth and vinyl upholstery with unique tartan plaid cloth inserts. You also get safety features like smart pull-out door handles. Strong safety door locks. Two-speed electric wipers. Safety belts. Head restraints. Plus conveniences like armrests, coat hooks, lighted heater controls . . . important little things that add so much to your driving comfort.

Q. What about options?
A. You can get 'em if you want 'em. You can order integral air conditioning. (It's built in, not hung on.) Other options include 3-speed automatic or low-cost semiautomatic transmission, and a hefty 200 CID Six. But lots of people won't put an extra cent into this car. Because it's all there. A complete car all ready to drive home.

Q. What kind of gas mileage can I get?
A. That depends on you as well as the car. You can get as much as 25 or 26 miles per gallon—if you have an educated toe and the right road conditions. If you have a lead foot, or do a lot of city driving, you will get a lot less. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 22.5 mpg.

Q. What kind of power does Maverick have?
A. Maverick's Six lets loose 105 galloping horses. That's 52 more than you get in the 4-cylinder VW 1500. Maverick can cover 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start. That means you can get up to highway speed in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired bookkeeper thrust into the middle of a pro football game.

Q. If it has an eight inch longer wheelbase than the leading import, does it still handle and park easily?
A. Maverick can U-turn in a tighter circle (35.6 feet) than the leading economy import (36.0 feet). Maverick can slant through traffic like a halfback. It can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. If you've been driving any other American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds up to 5½ feet to any parking space.

Q. Can Detroit really build a small economy car that's tough and long lasting?
A. It's not easy, but we did it. Maverick's unitized body construction makes it light, strong and durable. It's welded like a battleship. Rustproofing compound goes into deep crevices that never see the light of day. Then all that strength is covered with four coats of paint for lasting beauty. Result: one tough little car that's put together to stay together. (The service schedule in the Maverick owner's manual goes up to 108,000 miles or nine years; that ought to tell you something about its rugged durability.)

Q. How about parts and service?
A. Maverick is designed to be unusually easy to service. You're dealing with made-in-America parts and 6,000 easy-to-find Ford Dealers. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean extra savings in both time and money.

Q. Is Maverick really easier and less expensive to maintain than an economy import?
A. Definitely. Maverick oil changes come only every 6,000 miles and chassis lubrication once every 36,000 miles. The leading economy import recommends oil changes every 3,000 miles (twice as often as Maverick) and chassis lubrication every 6,000 miles (six times as often as Maverick!). Those are just a few examples of the many ways Maverick lessens inconvenience and lowers operating cost.

Q. Can I do my own maintenance work?
A. Yes, if you have an average amount of mechanical ability. The Maverick owner's manual contains 24 pages of detailed diagrams and easy-to-follow instructions for routine maintenance jobs you can do yourself, if you wish. You'll find it easy to change spark plugs, replace ignition points . . . plus many other do-it-yourself repairs and replacements.

Q. Can a small car be safe? And how safe is safe?
A. This small car incorporates the latest advances in engineering. Maverick's brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. Maverick gives you weight . . . power . . . stability. Designed for American driving conditions.

Q. How does Maverick ride?
A. Here's where Maverick's longer, wider stance really pays off. You get a smoother, quieter ride. Maverick's tight, strong, unitized body helps eliminate squeaks and rattles. Special insulation blocks out road noise. The people who brought you a Ford that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce now bring you a small car that doesn't sound like a power mower.

Q. Is there an advantage in the fact that Maverick is really a 1970 car?
A. Slower depreciation is one money-in-the-pocket advantage. Maverick's 1970 model designation means it keeps its trade-in value higher, longer. (Maverick is built to be a good investment from the minute you buy it to the minute you sell it.)

Better come take a look at this one. You'll find it where the action is . . . right in there with other great Ford values like specially equipped Ford Galaxie 500's . . . Fairlanes . . . Mustangs and Falcons.

You'll find them at your Ford Dealer's . . . the place you've got to go to see what's going on.

For an authentic 1/25 scale model of the new Ford Maverick, send $1.00 to Maverick, P.O. Box 5397, Department NO. N-50, Detroit, Michigan 48211. (Offer ends July 31, 1969.)

Students Try Out For Concert Choirs

CHIRSTY CREWS, ANITA POOLE, GORDON BEAVER, and PHYLLIS LAIR pause for the photographer they conduct concert choir tryouts.

Sikeston high school students desiring to be members of the concert choirs for next year began tryouts Wednesday afternoon after school.

Gordon Beaver, vocal instructor, directed the individual tryouts for all interested students.

Students enrolled in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes are eligible.

Two choirs are scheduled for sixth and seventh hours, and he groups combine many times for programs ad concerts.

Various vacancies exist in the musical groups since many of the members will be in the graduating class.

Choirs presented two spring concerts this year, and they will perform in the musical review for all the various students enrolled in any music class later this spring.

Boys are especially invited by Mr. Beaver to try out for the groups.

Mr. Beaver further stated that if any student has a special committment after school that he would make special arrangements for him to try out at a different date.

Choirs this year number approximately 180 students.

Sing-Out Sikeston Gives Full Show

"Sing-Out Sikeston" gave its first full performance Saturday night in the middle school auditorium.

Group performed before a packed house that found 100 members standing in the rear.

The 24 musical selections presented in one hour and 45 minutes drew excellent responses from the audience.

Group received four standing ovations and before the closing of the program, director Mrs. Carole Clayton, and ensemble co-ordinator Bob Williamson were given a hearty ovation.

Program began and ended with the group s theme song "Up With People".

Among the songs presented were "New York City" done by Linda Bird; "Ashes" by Barbara Armour; "Who Cares?" done by Dan Hazel; "Paul Revere" sung by Bill Sappenfield and Joe Parmenter; "Children" sung by Tommy Jobe; and "Hometown" sung by Barbara Armour and Linda Bird.

"Sing-Out Sikeston" was formed approximately seven months ago and began with about 30 members in the cast. Cast has since grown to about 140 members.

Before completion of the program, the cast presented Mrs. Clayton and Mr. Williamson with a gift of appreciation. Patty Bush and Stan McGill made the presentation and explained to the audience that the entire cast wished to express their appreciation and gratitude to Mrs. Clayton and Mr. Williamson.

"Others to be commended for their participation in the organization are the instrumentalists Chuck Hanna, Alex Waters, Steve Waters, Geoff Comer, Kay Stauffer, and Sandy Greene," said Mr. Williamson.

Sponsors for "Sing-Out Sikeston" are the Optimist Club and Sikeston's Council on the Arts.

Money from this performance and other donations will be used to pay for the badly needed sound equipment and lights that the group recently purchased.

Students Spivey, Warren, Bush, Bird Are Features

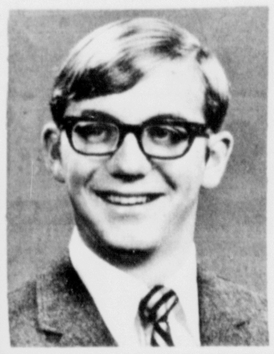

Bulldog Barker has only a few more editions to print until the end of the school year. In an effort to recognize as many students as possible, four students will be featured each week.

Senior Karen Spivey is a member of National Honor Society and Red Peppers. Her outstanding work as exchange editor of the Barker and feature editor of the Growler have earned her membership in Quill and Scroll, a national honor organization for student journalists.

Karen received a letter of commendation from the board of curators of the University of Missouri earlier this year.

Karen plans to attend Southeast Missouri State College and major in business or elementary education.

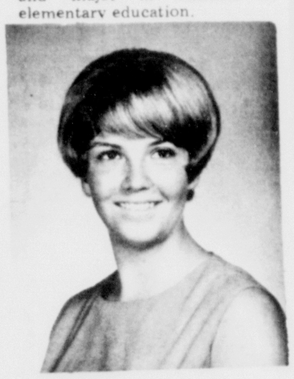

Senior David Bird is well known for his outstanding musical ability. Dave is a member of concert choir VI and moderne chorale.

Dave is a member of the "Ramblers," a folk group popular in a large area. He has written a number of songs for the group and has done numerous arrangements of popular songs.

"Ramblers" will perform each Saturday night this summer at the Ken-Lake Hotel in Kentucky.

Dave's outstanding photography for the Barker and the Growler has earned him membership in Quill and Scroll.

Dave will enter the University of Mississippi this fall in the school of business and government. He is planning to major in political science.

Junior Patty Bush is outstanding in music and dancing fields. As a member of Little Theatre, Patty has worked with three musicals.

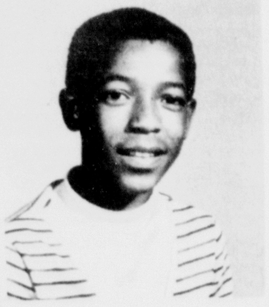

In "South Pacific," she was a member of the singing and dancing chorus. In "The King and I," she played Eliza. "Oklahoma" chorus was under the supervision of Patty's choreography.

Patty was the lead dancer in the dream sequence ballet in "Oklahoma." She is currently acting as choreographer of "Showboat." Sing-Out also utilizes Patty's talent as a choreographer.

Patty was one of the main organizers of Sing-Out Sikeston and serves on the Action Council. She often performs solos with the group.

Patty is a member of National Honor Society, Drama club, French club, concert and marching bands, and is accompanist for concert choir VII.

Patty is also a member of Red Peppers, and she teaches dancing as well as taking piano lessons.

Freshman Freddie Warren shows a great promise in the New Forensic League. He has won a number of best speaker awards in congresses throughout the area.

Concerning his forensic experiences, Freddie said, "Debates and congresses this year have shown me how much fun it can be to think and speak logically. I've really enjoyed it and I plan to participate in it each year."

Freddie is also a member of Sing-Out, Boy Scouts, and he participated in wrestling this year. He is currently working with Little Theatre on he nroduction "Showboat."

FBLA Students Go To Memphis

Twenty-one Future Business Leaders of America members made a field trip to Memphis recently.

Students, accompanied by instructors Mrs. Tim Garner and Gerald Jackson, toured the Delta Airlines Reservation offices for the first stop.

Employees explained the IBM equipment and the telegramming hook ups.

Federal Aviation Agency Tower was the second stop. This area is restricted and each student had to wear a badge to tour the area.

This agency controls air travel from above Cape Girardeau to parts of the state of Alabama.

Each employee had an individual radar screen, and students watched the radar as it forecasted storms and air travel conditions.

Memphis Municipal Airport was the last stop for the group to make a tour.

After leaving the airport, they made a trip by Elvis Presley's home and shopped lat the Southland Mall before returning home.

Junior homerooms are in charge of various committees to make plans for the dance.

Mrs. Tim Garner's homeroom is in charge of refreshments.

Music committee consists of H.C. Walter's homeroom, Eugene Dowling. homeroom, Miss O'Hara's homeroom, and Mrs. Micheal Brogran. homeroom

Invitations for the dance will be designed by Mrs. Tony Statler's homeroom and Mrs. Bryan Snider's homeroom.

Mr. Dowling's homeroom and m. Wright's homeroom will be in charge of the decorations

Mrs. Brogan's homeroom Miss O'Hara's homeroom, and Mrs. Lannum's homeroom will clean up after the dance.

OpenHouse; PopConcert Date Set For May 15

Sikeston high school will sponsor its annual open house Friday, May 16, at 6:30 p.m.

Students and teachers are busily preparing various displays to be posted on the night of open house.

Students in English will display outstanding poems, notebooks, and themes done in the various classes during the year.

Journalism class will display such items as this year's Bulldog Barker, work done on the yearbook, and pictures of the year's activities.

Visitors to the math and science building will view posters and displays of projects done by the students.

Annual open house is designed chiefly for the public's enjoyment and to give parents an opportunity to see the quality of education their children are receiving.

Immediately following open house, late division band, directed by Keith Collins, will present its annual pop concert on the band shell. Numbers of this program are of a lighter and more familiar vein.

Stallings, Struwe Are Sikeston's Speech Delegates

Senior Forensic League members Mike Struwe and Dave Stallings are currently attending the state speech contest at the University of Missouri in Columbia.

Mike Struwe is competing in the public speaking cate

Students in this category must present a six-to-eight minute address on a problem of international significance.

Dave Stallings is participating in radio speaking. Students in this division are actually competing in a double event.

Using a closed circuit broadcast system, students first read a previously prepared news broadcast. Students are then given a short time to prepare another newscast, using materials provided them.

State ratings differ from district ratings in that district ratings are comprised of the average of the ratings for two rounds, whereas state ratings are based on one round only.

Dave and Mike were chosen to attend the state contest at the district contest held in mid-April in Cape Girardeau.

Other Sikeston students who participated in the district contests are Rod Taylor, Leslie Johnson, Lee Crites, Don Littleton, Randy Reynolds, and Chris Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Struwe are accompaning the two contestants to Columbia.

Robert Walker is director of speech.

Presentation of awards will be by Robert Mitchell, president of the board of education.

Music will be provided by the high school orchestra, directed by Richard Powell.

Barbara Nall, Betty Powers, Judy Price, Gene Spitzmiller, Sheri Sprout, Mike Struwe Rod Taylor, and Nancy Turner.

Juniors to be recognized are Pat Beck, Lee Bowman, Kathy Britt, Patty Bush, John Chittenden, Debbie Collins, Julie Crader.

Lee Crites, Charlie Dye, Brenda Estep, Ellen Fisher, Dan Fugate, Steve Guess, Mike Hanks, Janet Hedrick, Steve Klein, Suzi King.

Phyllis Lair, Don Littleton, Phil Matthews, Jerry Ogles, Dan Overbey, Debbie Payne, Jan Sargent, Steve Scherer, Connie Snow.

Srs. Will Pay Rental Payment On Caps, Gowns

Seniors may pay the rental fee of $4 for caps and gowns beginning Monday morning.

Gowns will arrive about a week before graduation exercises. Students must present a receipt of payment before receiving their outfits.

Gowns will be the traditional navy blue. Girls' robes will have white collars and boys are requested to wear white shirts and black ties.

Tassels with a gold "69" charm will be kept by seniors as memories of the graduation ceremony.

Caps and gowns will be worn for baccalaureate Sunday, May 25, and for commencement Thursday, May 29.

Robes must be returned to the boxes in which they arrived immediately following commencement exercises.

Placement Test Scheduled; Last Date Tomorrow

Seniors who have not taken the Missouri College Placement Test will have an opportunity to do so tomorrow. This will be the last opportunity to take the test at Cape State.

Thirty colleges in Missouri including the University of Missouri, Lincoln University, and all state colleges require entering freshmen to take the test.

Test is given in the north hall of the science building, room 200 at Southeast Missouri jState College in Cape.

Test begins at 8:30 and students must be in their seats by that time.

Students who cannot take the test on this date may take it on July 12 at Three Rivers Junior College, 507 Vine Street in Poplar Bluff. This will be the last date the test will be given in this area.

Escaping from Poverty

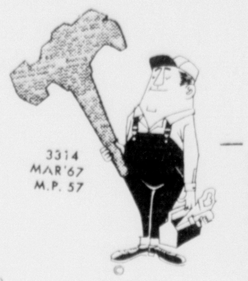

Dr. Kershner

I HAVE just read a newspaper account of welfare mothers staging a demonstration before the Department of Welfare in a Pennsylvania city. They were demanding extra relief money for their children. They claimed to represent the Welfare Rights Organization and they sang "We shall overcome." What do they expect to overcome? The resistance of taxpayers to further despoliation? Do they never think of their own responsibility for bringing children into the world whom they cannot support? Do they ever think how other parents feel who have restricted their own families and are then forced to contribute to the maintenance of children whose parents have not shown that degree of judgment and restraint?

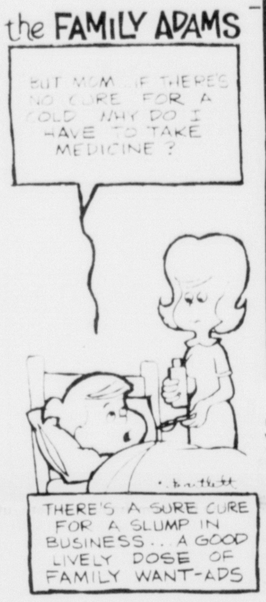

It is the Christian duty of those who have to share with those who are in need. It is also the duty of the latter to work hard and to manage their affairs in a way that will minimize their needs and tend to make them self-supporting insofar as possible. Will a society be permanent that seizes wealth anywhere it can be found in order to give to its less provident, less intelligent, less thrifty and less self-reliant members? If we finally concede that government has the right to seize the property of some and give it to others, is there any hope that this process will be stopped until we are all brought down to the poverty level? Would that help the poor? On the other hand, it would greatly increase their suffering.

The countires that have the most well-to-do people also have the least amount of poverty. When some escape from poverty it shows that others may do it also. The more wealth a country has the more it produces. It matters not that the wealth is privately owned for it is more productive by reason of that fact than it would be if it were government-owned. It is not who owns wealth that counts, but how productively it is used for the creation of the things people want and need.

Howard Kershner's Commentaries. Distributed by the CHRISTIAN FREEDOM FOUNDATION, 3030 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, California 90005

SPECS for the future? It may be if an Australian designer is correct in predicting what the well-dressed outdoor girl will be using for sunglasses around the year 2000. The visor modeled by Ruth Ellis of Melbourne not only covers the full face but has such built-in accessories as antennas and two-way radio communication sets.

Make the best use of your time, despite all the difficulties of these days. Ephesians 5:16, Phillips)

PRAYER: Holy Father, help us to make the best of opportunities life offers us. May we not waste the abundant riches that Thou art daily bestowing upon us. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

If you have the shank end of a leg of lamb boned and split you can broil the meat. Place fat side up on the broiler rack about five inches from the heat source and broil about 20 minutes; brush with a marinade and turn and broil 15 minutes. Then turn the broiler setting low, or move the broiler rack low, and broil another half hour or until meat is tender, basting with the marinade.

J.H. Yount and J.H. Galeener have let the contract for their new building that will be erected on the Kingshighway just north of the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks to the McDonald Construction Co. of Wellston, Mo., who will begin work on the building as soon as the material can can be secured. The Scott-Madrid Motor Co., has leased the building for a period of five years, for a salesroom, offices and repair department.

Dean Marshall moved his family to Sikeston last week from Anigain, Ark., where he had been for some months. They will reside here and Dean will be associated with a merchantile establishment in the city.

E.M. Crooks reports his watermellon plants all killed by the frost. He is afraid wheat may be injured by being stunted which will show up in the grain.

A.I. Foard, who has contracted to serve as County Agent in this county, will assume his duties the first of June. He will have an office in the Court House at Benton and will reside in Sikeston.

Monica Taylor, sophomore in the Sikeston High School, fell during gym period Wednesday morning and suffered a broken finger.

Jake Goldstein, who recently purchased the old laundry building near the ice plant, has installed powerful shears in the building and is cutting up scrap iron for shipment. By cutting the iron in short lenghts, more of it can be packed in a car and it brings a better price on the market.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Tucker and family moved from Sikeston Monday to New Madrid and are now occupying their residence in the northwest part of the city, which they purchased about a month ago and have had completely remodeled.

If You Were the Judge

Bothered Man Collects Damages from Nuisance

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Herman developed a keen dislike for his ex-business partner George and didn't mind letting George know. If he met George on the street, he'd grimace and leer. On other occasions, regardless where they met, he'd walk up to George and laugh until Herman began following him both on foot and on wheels. If Herman spotted George on the street, he'd begin walking right behind him. If he happened to spy George on the highway, he'd tailgate him for blocks or miles.

Finally, Herman got to poor old George. The latter became a nervous wreck and he sued Herman for damages.

"While it takes a tree fives years to produce a nut," George complained in court, "Herman's made me nutty in just five weeks."

"I didn't do anything to him for which he can sue me," was Herman's answer. "I haven't laid a finger on him and certainly a man can't collect damages because he doesn't like the way someone looks at him. In this society, you've got to make allowances for all kinds of people."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Herman pay for upsetting poor old George?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that if a man finds himself perpetually haunted by an enemy; if he is greeted at every turn by baleful looks, sudden sorties which fall short of physical contract, derisive laughter; if he cannot drive his car without the iminent threat of collision from the rear, there cannot be any doubt that he is being subjected to extreme and outrageous conduct for which damages can be recovered if all is proven.

Mineral Area Junior College Gutted by Fire

FLAT RIVER, Mo. (AP) — Firemen managed to save student and financial records before fire gutted Mineral Area College's only classroom building early Friday, authorities said.

Dr. Richard Caster, president of the junior college, put the loss at $190,000 to the one-story building and $360,000 to the contents. The campus is located immediately outside the Flat River city limits.

Caster said persons apparently saw the fire about midnight but didn't know what it was. The alarm was turned in about 2 a.m. Firemen from Flat River, Bonne Terre, Farmington and other nearby towns responded but were not able to save the building.

File cabinets containing the school's records were removed before the flames reached them, Caster said.

Medicaid Ends In New Mexico

SANTA FE, N.M. AP) — New Mexico's medicaid program ended Thursday because the $17 million appropriated for the fiscal year ran out in the first 10 months.

Effects of the end of the federally supported medical assistance program for the poor were immediate as some of the 1,115 elderly receiving nursing home care under the program were taken home by relatives who could not afford to pay costs at the homes.

State officials said about half of the 1,115 patients would qualify for general public assistance payments of $84.70 monthly, which could be used for sheltered care payments.

The monthly cost of the program ran about 30 per cent above budgeted amounts for most of the fiscal year that began July 1. Officials said per-patient payments were higher than expected.

Ex-German Chancellor Dies at 89

OBERSASBACH, Germany (AP) - Former Chancellor Franz von Pepen, who helped pave Hitler's way to power and later won acquittal at the Nuernberg war crimes trials, died today, his son reported. He was 89 years old.

Von Papen became seriously ill early in April. His son said the illness was aggravated by his advanced age. He died at his secluded home in this Baden village.

Von Papen, regarded as something of a lightweight in the German politics of the early 1930s, was as responsible as any one man for bringing Adolf Hitler to power, though that probably was not what he meant to do.

In a chaotic political situation in June 1932, President Paul von Hindenburg appointed Von Papen chancellor. But he resigned that fall after elections showed Hitler's Nazi had made great gains, though still not enough for a Reichstag majority.

The Nazis were nearly bankrupt then, and Von Papen arranged a meeting of Hitler and Baron Kurt von Schroeder, a Cologne banker, apparently with the idea of putting Hitler and the Nazis in his debt. He persuaded Schroeder and his colleagues that the nation's best hope was a coalition government of Nazis and nationalist rightists. In a short time a fund of four million marks was raised for Hitler's party.

Von Papen then went to his old friend, President Hindenburg and convinced him that he should summon Hitler to be chancellor and make Von Papen his deputy. Hitler and two others were the only Nazis in the government formed Jan. 30, 1933, and Von Papen said it was deliberately fashioned that way to keep Hitler in check.

But Von Papen, the record shows, sat in Cabinet meetings at which the Nazis gradually substituted the concentration camp for the rule of law.

Missouri Files Petition Seeking Remap Rehearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri filed a petition in U.S. Supreme Court today asking that the court reconsider its April 7 rejection of the state's congressional redistricting.

The petition asks that as an alternative the court let the 1967 redistricting law stand until the districts must be realigned in 1971.

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth is asking for the rehearing in the 17-page petition.

The petition said the April 7 decision "not only places in jeopardy the apportionments in most of the states, but also any future attempts that the state of Missouri or other states might make."

It asked that other states be allowed to appear as friends of the court to discuss that point.

Danforth said no legislature or commission could produce a collective redistricting that would satisfy the court decision, and the only alternative would be to have the courts set up the districts, "highly undesirable in a state such as Missouri. . ."

The petition said that under the court'swtrict order based solely on equal population between districts one man could perhaps draw districts that would meet the requirements, but two men with different ideas could not.

"We suggest," the petition illustrated, "that a black legislator is acting with entire propriety in trying to establish a congressional district in which a person of his race can probably secure election, and that minority Republican legislators are acting properly in striving for as many districts as possible in which their party's candidates have a chance.

"There is complete good faith in each instance.

"Under the court's opinion, however, legislators are inhibited in the pursuit of their particular and legitimate goals through the necessity of striving for mathematic equality at all costs."

Besides, the petition said, districts drawn to meet the court's requirement would be undesirable for representative government. It argued that people of a particular geographical area, with similar economic and political ties, should be tied together.

House Amends Uniform Organ Transplant Bill

JEFFERSON CITY AP) — The House Thursday amended and sent back to the Senate a uniform anatomical act bill - to spell out the legal procedures for human organ transplants.

Some 30 states now are working to enact similar laws, sponsors said.

The House added an amendment to tighten controls over the timing of death of a donor. It specifies that the physician certifying death cannot be one of those participating in any transplant operation.

Also sent back to the Senate was a bill establishing the Inter-agency Council for Outdoor Recreation as the state's agent in agreements with the federal government for use of reservoir facilities.

The bill is similar to one that was passed by the Senate two years ago but died on the House calendar.

Sent to the governor was a bill providing the procedure to be followed in dissolving a public hospital district.

Another sent to the governor would let chiropodists and podiatrists use narcotic drugs in treating patients.

The House defeated a bill, 48-80, that would require employers to pay workers every 14 days instead of monthly or twice a month.

Opponents said it would be too expensive for large companies using computer payroll systems to change over and would create an unfavorable business climate in the state.

there," Christa remarked.

After returning to Germany Alfred first worked for an electric company, then was glad to get a job with an American-owned company. He has attended two meetings in the states and published an article on photos tubes in an English magazine.

This trip, Christa's first to the states, they have seen New York City, visited friends in New Jersey, and stayed at Niagara Falls.

"We were married during the war and couldn't take a trip, so now, after 25 years of marriage, we're having a honeymoon." Alfred explained with a smile.

Before arriving in Sikeston, the Kittels met Mrs. Electra Shankle Goldwassen in the St. Louis airport for dinner. Mrs. Goldwassen, presently living in Kansas City, brought some of Mrs. Kittels first letters, for her to read.

Leaving Sikeston today, they hope to spend a day in Memphis before going on to friends in Houston, then New Orleans and Fort Lauderdale.

Christa has a special impression of the states. "It's like Gulliver's Travels. You are the giants and we are the little people."

Alfred, a realist, explained his impressions this way: "You are more openminded and friendlier, you have more feelings for others.

"That's why we planned the reception," Mrs. Shankle said. "Everyone wanted to meet you."

Woman Freed After Forced 120-Mile Ride

NEWBURG, Mo. (AP)—Three AWOL soldiers from nearby Ft. Leonard Wood forced a 21-year old woman to drive them about 120 miles to East St. Louis, Ill., then released her unharmed Thursday, the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

The woman, Judy Carr, drove back to her Newburg home, with help from the patrol, which lent a hand after her car broke down between Sullivan and Bourbon.

Sgt. Tom Pasley of the patrol said Mrs. Carr, a widow, and her sister, Mrs. Pauline Heider, gave this account of the incident:

At noon the three soldiers entered the home and demanded food and clothing of Mrs. Heider, who was alone at the time. Then Mrs. Carr returned home in her car with Laura Heider, 6, and Lisa Carr, 3.

Mrs. Heider managed to get a shotgun in a bedroom, but one soldier pulled out a pistol and said he would shoot one of the children if she didn't put the shotgun down. She complied.

The men forced Mrs. Carr to take them away in her car, telling Mrs. Heider they would shoot Mrs. Carr if police were notified before they got out of the state.

During the ride to East St. Louis, Mrs. Carr saw her fiance, Bill Nangle, a highway department employe, working on the highway east of Rolla, but was unable to signal him.

In East St. Louis, the men got out of the automobile, and Mrs. Carr telephoned her sister about 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Heider then called the patrol.

After the automobile broke down, Mrs. Carr called her sister again, and Mrs. Heider notified the patrol. An officer was sent to help her.
